The Rights of Property.
A Dangerous Fever.
Mellon's Birthday.
The Big World of Cash.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

BY ORDER of Federal Judge Gough, 253 Ohio families of striking miners will be evicted from their miserable shacks, on May first. The weather should be fairly warm, by then.

THE judge in the case did his duty, probably could not have ruled otherwise. The houses belong to the mine owners, and if they want to fight women and children, as well as the working men, that is their right.

Some of them, probably, will go to Hell later, in case the fundamentalists are right about future plans, but that will not help the miners' families now.

A HUNDRED times within three years, this column has warned the public against selling stocks short, and against stock gambling. It has been shown that real values are not understood by many, nor do they understand the change in American conditions, since the war.

Billions in cash were poured into circulation. Wages were doubled. Men buy stocks, luxuries, and speculate, with surplus cash.

THE great buying power is now the millions of little people, owners of what economists call the "social surplus." That surplus, amounting to at least ten billions a year, ten times one thousand million dollars, the people of all classes TAKE IN, over and above what they need to live. They are investing each year ten new billions that they did not have before the war. Every five years that equals fifty billions that the war cost us. Every year it equals the amount we lent to Europe.

SOME of the billions go into motors, new, better houses, radio, talking machines, electric washers and sweepers, better living conditions of a hundred kinds.

And some of it, very wisely, is invested in good American securities, on a sound INVESTMENT BASIS, not on a speculative basis.

BUT, HERE IS THE DANGER, constantly growing more acute. Millions have got the stock gambling fever, and many that are counting "paper profits" will be bankrupt, when the dust settles.

SECRETARY MELLON, in honor of his birthday, took two working hours off, stopping work at 4 instead of 6 p. m., according to the New York Times.

Of Mr. Mellon, past 70, some admirers say, "What a pity he is too old for the presidency."

WHO too old? If he is young enough to run the financial affairs of this nation, he is not too old to be president. Are sound judgment and long experience of no consequence? Is there no difference in men's staying and thinking powers?

This writer has seen Gladstone, nearly 80, making his fight for home rule in the House of Commons at 3 o'clock in the morning, full of fire and energy. Nobody suggested that he was too old to lead his party.

Are we inferior in stamina to the British? Must we admit that American men fade away in their prime, like savage women, prematurely married, old at 30?

A YOUNG gentleman bought for $340,000 a stock exchange seat that his father once bought for $5,000. In both cases, a bargain. If you have brains a stock exchange seat is a gold mine. Some brokers lack brains, and don't know enough to let the fools gamble, while they collect commissions.

Partners in big brokerage houses must solemnly promise not to gamble. That ought to warn the lamb. It won't.

"BIG STEEL" has cut one dollar a ton off the cost of manufacturing. The late Judge Gary said to this writer, who quoted him, in print, years ago: "When you buy other steel stocks, remember that United States Steel, if it chooses, can sell steel at a profit for less than it costs competitors to produce it."

GREAT and powerful are the great concerns that deal in money. Twenty-six New York trust companies made $71,582,000 last year.

More powerful is the industrial concern that produces goods. In three months, General Motors earned a net profit of $70,000,000, or at the rate of $280,000,000 a year.

COTTON "pickers and strippers," replacing human fingers with machinery, are now working in Northwestern Texas.

This is good news. Prosperity for farmers depends on machinery, on doing with the earth's products what Ford, first, did with automobiles.

In the Gary rolling mill, half a dozen men roll out steel rails that ten thousand could not have produced with old sledge hammer methods. No human hand touches the iron until a tall young Scandinavian runs his keen blue eye along the finished rail, and signals another man, who straightens it. Machines dig the ore, put it in ships, unload it, handle it, cold and hot.

Six men, some day, will run a 1,000-acre farm, and multiply its crops by ten. Don't worry over population.

The Weather

Showers and thunderstorms tonight, probably clearing Tuesday morning; decidedly colder late tonight.

64 STRIKE PICKETS FREED

Sixty-four striking miners who went to jail last week to test their right to picket a non-union mine at Treveskyn, were liberated at the request of Sheriff Robert H. Braun this afternoon. They were released on their own recognizance pending action by the grand jury on charges of unlawful assembly in ivolation of the sheriff's proclamation.

The strikers were arrested at Maude mine of the McClane Mining Company at Treveskyn, near Bridgeville, by deputy sheriffs and state police. Following hearings before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie, they were remanded to jail after each refused to furnish $500 bail.

A band was on hand to greet the pickets. Friends provided trucks to carry the strikers back to Treveskyn and planned a home-coming demonstration for the released pickets. They boarded the trucks in the Boulevard of the Allies, and with the band playing gaily the procession made its way through the city and out to Treveskyn.

SMALLPOX INFESTS MINERS

Smallpox has broken out at Montour Mine No. 10 of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Library, and wholesale vaccination of men, women and children in the company houses has begun, Dr. G. C. Weil, chief surgeon of the company, has been sent to the mine with a staff of nurses and attendants to fight spread of the disease.

The mine was shut down today and rumors were current that operations had been halted because of danger of the disease spreading, but J. D. A. Morrow, president of the company, denied this. He said the mine was shut down because of repairs.

"Once every six months we put a new screen in our coal cleaning machinery and it so happens that we are doing that today," he said. He characterized the rumors as "bunk."

HUNDREDS IN CAMP

Between 400 and 500 men are employed at the mine, Mr. Morrow said, and only a small percentage are Negroes. He did not know whether a child or a grown person had contracted the disease.

Phillip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, attending the Senatorial strike hearings at Washington, was notified of the outbreak of the disease by telephone this morning.

Dr. John R. Conover, county medical director, to whom reports of infectious diseases outside the city are made, declined to reveal the number of smallpox cases reported from Library. He said he had orders from the state secretary of health, Dr. Theodore B. Appel of Harrisburg, against giving information about contagious diseases, but said he had wired Dr. Appel for permission to give out this information.

GERMANS ON HOP TO U. S.

Reach Dublin On 1st Lap

BALDONNELL AIRDROME, DUBLIN, March 26.—Completing the first stage of a westward trans-Atlantic flight to New York, the Junkers monoplane, carrying three Germans, landed here shortly after 4:30 p. m. (11:30 a. m. Pittsburgh time) today.

The 800-mile journey from Berlin, whence they started secretly this morning, was completed in a little more than nine hours. They started from Berlin at 8:08 a. m. (2:08 a. m., Pittsburgh time).

If the weather is favorable, it was understood here, the German aviators would start for Mitchel Field, L. I., at dawn Tuesday.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Hermann Koehl, with Arthur Spindler, 27, former sergeant major in Koehl's bombing squadron, and Baron Von Huenefeld, friend of the former crown prince, as passengers.

Both will accompany Koehl on the westward trans-Atlantic venture.

Although their destination was unknown in Berlin until hours after the start, Baldonnel officials had made the field ready both for the Bremen's landing and its departure on the journey to "Mitchel Field or heaven."

First Lady Rushes to Mother

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. Coolidge left this afternoon for Northampton, Mass., where her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, is said to have suffered a serious relapse in her illness.

Mrs. Coolidge was called to Northampton earlier in the month when her mother's condition appeared critical. Mrs. Goodhue has been ill since last December. Her condition was said here to be again very dangerous.

FAILING RAPIDLY

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, was failing rapidly today, her physician, Dr. J. E. Hayes, said after he had visited her at the Cooley Dickinson Hospital at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

He said her condition had continued to become worse since he had seen her earlier in the day, and expressed doubt whether she would live until her daughter arrived from Washington tonight.

NAB PHILA. SHERIFF IN CONTEMPT

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham was arrested here shortly after noon today by Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms John M. McGrain, of the United States Senate, for contempt of the Senate. He was arraigned immediately and freed on $1,000 bail pending a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus.

Date for the hearing on the writ has been set for April 5.

Cunningham's arrest is the outgrowth of his refusal to tell the Reed Senate special investigating committee the source of the $50,000 he contributed to the campaign funds of Senator-Elect William S. Vare in the 1926 primary.

Immediately after the arrest Congressman Benjamin M. Golder, counsel for Cunningham, went before Judge Oliver B. Dickinson in the Federal District Court and filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus discharging the sheriff from the custody of the Senate.

Sheriff Cunningham, who was clerk of the Quarter Sessions Courts of Philadelphia at the time he appeared before the Senate committee, took his arrest calmly.

"Pleased to meet you," he said to Deputy Sergeant John McGrain, when he met the Senate officer.

The petition filed by Congressman Golder contended that Cunningham is not now and never has been guilty of any contempt against the Senate. At the time of the election in 1926, it stated, there were no statutes of Pennsylvania restricting in any way the expenditures of any candidates.

"The Constitution of the United States," says the petition, "as interpreted by the Supreme Court in the case of Newberry vs. United States gave no power to the Congress of the United States or either constituent house thereof to legislate or regulate in any manner whatsoever the primary

DENY ROCKEFELLER CO. BROKE PACT

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Out of a bewildering maze of words it finally developed today in the examination of George Anderson, vice president of the Consolidation Coal Company, by the Senate committee investigating the coal strike, that the company did not feel that it had broken its wage agreement with the United Mine Workers, because it had signed the agreement as a member of the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' Association, and when it decided to reduce wages it withdrew from the association, and accordingly considered itself no longer bound to the association's contract.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is a heavy stockholder in the Consolidation company, and both he and Anderson stoutly denied that they had broken the contract with the miners' union, notwithstanding that the company's officers signed the Baltimore agreement in 1924, which was to run for three years and which was rejected by the company in 1925.

Anderson was on the stand all morning. He reviewed the history of the struggle between coal operators and the miners' union during the past 10 years, and endeavored to show that not only the company but its miners have been better off under nonunion operation than when the company operated under agreement with the United Mine Workers.

He said he desired to be frank and helpful, and he wanted it understood at the outset that, while what he'd say might have a sting in it, he was not hostile to the miners' union.

15,000 AT FUNERAL OF CHICAGO GANGSTER

FLOWERS DROPPED BY PLANES

By FRANCIS P. HEALY,
International News Service.

CHICAGO, March 26.—It was raining in Chicago today, but 15,000 persons cared not.

They were paying final tribute in burying "Diamond Joe" Esposito—not the gangster, not the politician, not the head of a so-called alky ring—but simply Giuseppe Esposito, the man beloved by thousands.

With all the pomp and ceremony accorded a king, Esposito was laid to rest amidst a pouring rain that swept down upon the heads of the gathered multitudes.

Airplanes hovered in the darkened skies and let loose a cascade of 10,000 rose petals which fell upon the right-of-way of the one-mile long cortege and the $10,000 ornate casket.

TONS OF FLOWERS

Chicago has seen funerals. Mayors have been buried. Powerful statesmen have been carried to their final resting places. But Chicago never before has seen such a funeral as it saw today.

Tons of flowers and wreaths—so many they filled the modest dwelling where "Diamond Joe" had distributed alms to his public, and were banked about the house—on the lawns, the porch, even the street.

One hundred policemen battled to maintain order as the crowds swept in ever increasing waves to obtain a final glance at the bier of the man they loved.

And as the rain pattered down about the crowd and blossoms, a different picture was seen inside.

In a candle-lit room, by the head of the coffin, her head bowed, bearing stoically the pain that was in her heart, sat "Diamond Joe's" widow. In single file a steady stream passed by the casket. Some tried to move the widow.

"No—soon he will be gone," she said softly. "I want these last moments with him."

"HEAVENS IN TEARS"

Outside the rain increased. Through a downpour the heavy silver-bronze casket was carried to the funeral carriage and thence to church.

"Diamond Joe" had something few others of his calling had ever been given. Solemn high mass was sung for him. The church was filled to overflowing. Thousands had followed the casket in the rain and remained outside the church.

"Look, Carlotta!" muttered one mother with a black handkerchief tied over her glossy black hair. "Look! Even the heavens are weeping!"

The procession then wound in and out of packed streets to the cemetery. Only the simplest of rites were held there. "Diamond Joe" was laid away. Ashes were sprinkled. And thousands turned homeward—mourning because they had lost one of the best friends Little Italy in Chicago ever had.

election or the manner of conducting the same.

"Your petitioner is advised and believes and therefore avers that the Senate was without power and authority to pass resolutions and compel the citizens of the United States to attend a meeting of the committee and answer questions relating to the primary election."

"By reason of the petitioner's refusal to disclose his private and individual affairs," the petition continues, "the Senate illegally, improperly and without any authority or warrant under the constitution of the United States or otherwise, has adjuged your petitioner to be in contempt.

"Your petitioner has been advised that the United States in the proceedings has attempted an inquisitorial excursion into the private affairs of a citizen of the United States, concerning subject matter which the Constitution of the United States forbids the Senate to regulate."

Bail was fixed at $1,000 and Cunningham was released pending the argument on April 5.

BIG INUNDATION

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Immense stretches of orchard and ranch lands were under water today, hundreds of homes have been inundated, several communities have been isolated and many sections are in imminent peril as floods from the mountain sections swept down through the Central California valley districts. The Truckee River in Western Nevada was also on a rampage.

Authorities are making every effort to check reports that 20 persons known to live on Liberty Island in the Sacramento River below the capital were lost when the flood crest swept completely over the island.

In Sacramento one person was reported drowned and 18 are missing.

The Sacramento, Tulomne, American and Kern rivers have risen from 10 to 30 feet, weather bureau officials declared.

North Sacramento was isolated, with water in the business district nine feet deep at some points and spreading through the residential districts from a foot to three feet deep.

Oroville, Chico and Marysville were cut off from rail communication, although Southern Pacific officials hoped to have trains running today. Crews were constructing emergency levees to protect the tracks.

1,874,000 JOBLESS IN U. S., DAVIS REPORTS

SITUATION ADMITTED 'SERIOUS'

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—There is serious unemployment in America with the total number of idle workers approximately 1,874,000, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis reported today to the Senate in response to a resolution of inquiry.

Davis declared the unemployment situation was being met by the government's elaborate building program, together with similar building programs by states, municipalities and counties and private construction work. He declared there was an "upward trend" in employment for the month of February, indicating that the employment situation was improving.

Responding to a resolution of Senator Wagner, Democrat, of New York, asking a survey of labor, Mr. Davis said that there were 1,874,000 persons now out of work in the United States. He said this number constituted "a very small percentage of those at work."

The "shrinkage" in employment among wage-earners, including manufacturing, transportation, mining, agriculture, trade, clerical and domestic groups was declared to be 7.43 per cent on the basis of those employed in 1925, as compared with January of this year.

City Holidays for War Veterans Proposed

War veterans employed by the city would be given leaves of absence with pay on Memorial and Armistice days under the terms of a resolution presented in Council today. The resolution specifically mentions members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, the Grand Army of the Republic, the Union Veterans' Legion, the Disabled American Veterans and the United Spanish War Veterans. It is sponsored by the first-named organization. With the resolution appeared a letter from Controller Robert G. Woodside asking a hearing on the matter.

SWING JAIL DOOR OPEN FOR MINE PICKETS

morning to discuss the picketing problem.

"We have no desire to stir up trouble, or give the Sheriff any reason to worry about the safety of life, liberty and property, but we do want our rights as citizens," declared Fagan. "As long as our people are orderly, there is no reason why they should be put in jail," he said.

In discussing his reasons for issuing the proclamation last April when the coal strike began, Sheriff Braun declared:

"I knew that if the open breach between the United Mine Workers and the coal companies continued for any great period, the operators would, in time, endeavor to engage non-union workers, which would make my duties most difficult in the preservation of law and order. My only thought then and now is how best to do the right thing toward all parties concerned and protect the good name of Allegheny county for law observance.

"As a further safeguard, I requested the executive officers of the United Mine Workers that only eight pickets be engaged at any mine workings at any one time, which was accepted and continued for 11 months and 12 days without one violation. I also requested that open air mass meetings be held at least one-half mile from any non-union workings in order to reduce to a minimum the danger of exciting partisans of either side. This request likewise was respected, and I am quite grateful to the officials of the United Mine Workers.

"Then came March 1, 1928, when I was advised that mass picketing would be resorted to by the United Mine Workers. I could not believe they contemplated any such step, and so stated to my informants, for the reason that the union officials, up to this time, had lent their aid in keeping down disorder and unwieldy numbers of men. However, on March 13 and 14 the mass picketing began. I spoke to one of the officials of the union as to the purpose of this sudden change of methods. This officer answered by saying: 'If it is against the law, arrest them; we will keep up mass picketing until you have all of us in jail.' I took from this statement that their purpose was to test the law, to which place we now have arrived and I propose to prosecute this case to a decision."

The sheriff recalled the Pressed Steel Car Company strike of 1909 and the Turtle Creek valley strike in 1916 with the resultant losses of life and called upon operators and strikers to aid in maintaing respect for law and order.

Only about 35 pickets were out this morning at Treveskyn, according to Sergt. J. J. Ughes in charge of the State Police detail which patrolled the district. "The pickets were orderly and no demonstrations were carried out," Sergt. Ughes said.

The strikers were in charge of Samuel Caddy, international organizer for the United Mine Workers of America.

will be refueled for the long Atlantic hop. The aviators are Baron von Huenfeld, owner of the plane; Capt. Koehl, pilot, and Mechanic Spindler.

With favorable weather conditions they plan to leave Ireland at daylight tomorrow and to arrive at Mitchel Field Wednesday morning.

No radio, no life-saving apparatus and no rations went into the plane. Instead, a revolver, carefully wrapped in oilcloth to keep it ready for action at all times, was tucked away. The baron was said to have chosen this method of terminating a failure.

It was a strange trio who entered the cabin of the Bremen, the paper says. The baron, Prussian nobleman, wore his accustomed monocle. The pilot, whose hobby is painting, seemed equally indifferent to the dangers he faced. The mechanic had confidence in his leaders.

The start of the flight from the flying field near Berlin was made so secretly that even close friends of the fliers knew nothing of the departure, the paper says. Baron von Huenfeld was said to have feared government interference with his plans as the result of growing public sentiment against the loss of human life in previous attempts.

BOUQUET FOR KAISER

The plane will not take the direct route to Dublin, but will circle the place of exile of the former Kaiser Wilhelm at Doorn, Holland, where a bouquet of flowers and a message from the crew will be dropped. The baron shared for a time the exile of the former crown prince. It was expected that about 10 hours would be needed for this part of the flight.

The Post says that the pilot and owner became convinced after a flight last August, which was abandoned after reaching Ireland, that a non-stop westward flight from Germany to America was impossible.

The plane is named the "Bremen," which is lettered on its silvery gray sides with the number 1197. From Ireland the Germans have planned a circle flight about 300 miles south of the Great Circle route.

They estimated that the hop might be accomplished in a minimum of 29 hours with altogether favorable conditions and in a maximum of 35 hours with constantly adverse winds.

The Bremen will carry fuel for between 40 and 45 hours, giving it a cruising radius of about 4,500 miles, or 1,000 more than between its starting point and its destination.

According to their plans, the fliers will wave adieu to the Old World at Fastnet Rock, off Southern Ireland, and then watch anxiously for Cape Race, Newfoundland, as the first land of the new world.

churches and theaters, making threats, illegal liquor raids and engaging in guerilla warfare."

Ramsey made his statement in a deposition to Attorney General Arthur L. Gillom who recently brought suit to oust the klan from Indiana. Ramsey testified he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan in Ohio.

The klan in Ohio in the 1924 political campaign supported Vic Donahey, who subsequently was elected governor, according to Ramsey. He also said that the klan in Ohio supported Bert Buckley for treasurer on the Republican ticket in 1928 and that Buckley also was elected. The klan, he asserted, was "head over heels in politics" in Ohio in 1924.

The Ohio National Guard and the Ku Klux Klan in Ohio were closely associated, Ramsey said, declaring officers of the guard in some instances were klansmen. National Guard rifles were given klansmen for use at Dayton, O., on one occasion, he said.

Ramsey related incidents concerning the klan riot in 1924 at Niles, O. He said the riot in which several persons were killed and others injured started "through the radicalism of klansmen assigned to deputy sheriffs."

OIL FUGITIVES MAY BE INDICTED IN N. Y.

By JUDSON C. WELLIVER,
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The indictment of Harry M. Blackmer and James A. O'Neil for alleged embezzlement in operations of the Continental Trading Company will probably be sought in New York, under that state's laws, in the very near future, it was learned yesterday.

If indictment is obtained, as expected, extradition will be set in motion without delay. The purpose is to hasten proceedings and assure the return of Blackmer and O'Neil from abroad before the end of the Congress session.

Thus the procedure first outlined by the Hearst newspapers for straightening out the last tangled threads in the oil scandal complications is apparently about to produce definite results.

Senator Norris, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Sunday said he had gone only tentatively into the legal aspects. His consideration had convinced him that indictment for embezzlement would be found the effective procedure. It would have to be brought on complaint of a stockholder of the Prairie Oil Company, urging that that company was defrauded through the contract by which Continental was to buy oil at $1.50 a barrel and sell to Prairie at $1.75. Through this operation the $3,080,000 corruption fund was piped off to the Continental manipulators. Thence it was distributed to former Secretary Fall, the Republican National Committee, Blackmer, O'Neil and some others not yet finally identified.

Senator Norris has communicated to Owen J. Roberts of government counsel in the oil affair, his wish that the various possible proceedings which the Hearst newspapers have proposed, be examined into with all care and haste.

Missing

ELEANOR PHILLIPS

Mrs. Eleanor Phillips, 25, leaving her husband and a small son, disappeared February 18. She left with a man, police believe. She is five feet four inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, has blue eyes and bobbed hair, according to descriptions broadcast.

WARNS IT'S LAST TIME TO WORK

Slipping past the guards at the gate of the Homestead Steel Works last night, Anthony Wakara, 44, of rear 534 Fourth avenue, Homestead, leaped into a white-hot furnace and was burned to death. The suicide occurred an hour after Wakara had told his eldest son that he was "going to work for the last time." The man's body was burned to a crisp before workmen could reopen the furnace. He leaves four motherless children.

Wakara had been off work for a week and was despondent over financial affairs, morgue attaches were told. He went to the mill yesterday afternoon to start work and went directly to the soaking pit, the furnace in which steel billets are heated for rolling. He opened the electrically operated gate and leaped into the furnace.

MURDER DEFENDANT, 16

ALVIN HESS

The youngest person ever to be tried for murder in Allegheny county went on trial today when Alvin Hess, 16, West Homestead, was arraigned for the killing of a still unidentified man in Glenwood last September. The man was beaten to death with robbery as the motive, police allege. Robert Stephens, two years younger than Hess, was indicted in the same murder, but the pair will have separate trials.

YOUTH, BLAZING TORCH, SAVED BY FIREMAN

BROWNIE ZEBROSKI

Brownie Zebroski, 13, 7 Oak alley, Carnegie, was saved from serious injury after his companion threw a match into a can of gasoline which he was holding.

SAMUEL MANDOLA

Fireman Samuel Mandola, from his home, saw Brownie running down the street, his clothing afire. He ran out, seized the youth and extinguished the flames. Zebroski suffered slight burns and Mandola was also burned about the hands. Zebroski said he had taken the gasoline from the tank of a car which had wrecked a few minutes before.

MIKE STEFFORA

Mike Steffora, 13, 5 Broadway, Carnegie, placed the match to the can containing the gasoline. He was uninjured. Steffora said Zebroski told him to ignite the fluid.

JAVELIN STABS ATHLETE

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 26.—A javelin hurled by another member of the varsity track squad struck Roy B. Conner, of Swissvale, Grove City College freshman, just above the right knee inflicting a deep wound. The injury may keep him from participating in track events the rest of the season.

NO MOONSHINE, GIRL BEATEN

Katherine Krofchyshyen, 19, could find no one to buy moonshine from, so her father, Anthony, 47, beat her, it was testified in Morals Court today.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon sent the father to the workhouse for 30 days, after hearing the story of the beating from Mary, 18, the oldest of 10 children in the family. They live at 805 Doolittle street.

THOUSANDS VIEW WRECK OF S-4

BOSTON, March 26.—(AP.)—Thousands of persons visited the Charlestown Navy Yard Sunday to view the Submarine S-4, the steel hulk in which 40 men went to their deaths when the vessel was in collision with the Coast Guard Destroyer Paulding off Provincetown last December.

The visitors were not permitted to enter the ill-fated submarine which is in drydock. The throngs clustered about the dock and gazed upon the ship which contributed to the list of the navy's major peacetime disasters.

To give the visitors a knowledge of submarine construction navy yard officials allowed groups to enter the S-6, a sister ship of the S-4.

The ships of the salvage fleet which were engaged for three months in raising the S-4 also were open to the inspection of the visiting crowds.

GIVE BOOTLEGGER OF NEW CASTLE LIMIT

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 26.—The first bootlegger to get the full extent of the law in Lawrence county courts was Guiseppe di Decato, who was sentenced to three years in the Allegheny county workhouse and fined $50 and costs. Forty-five gallons of whisky was found in his automobile.

TEMPLE GROUPS TO HONOR DR. GOLDENSON

Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson of the Rodef Shalom Temple will be honored tonight by a reception in celebration of his fiftieth birthday and the tenth anniversary as rabbi of the temple. The reception is being held by the sisterhood and the men's society of the congregation. Dr. Goldenson's friends will gather in the temple at Fifth and Morewood avenues, where congratulations will be extended by Judge Josiah Cohen, president of the congregation, and by Mrs. Frederic Johnson, president of the sisterhood, and S. PICKETS USE MEGAPHONES AT SLOVAN

"JOIN THE UNION, BUDDY!"

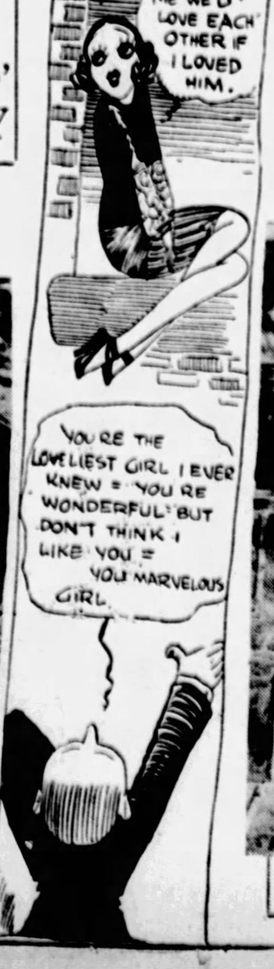
Only four men are allowed on the picket line at the Langeloth mine of the American Zinc and Chemical Company at Slovan, near Burgettstown, and they are unable to get within a thousand yards of the strike-breakers going to and from the mine. J. R. Ferns, right, international organizer for the United Mine Workers of America, hit upon the idea of equipping the pickets with megaphones so their voices would carry across to the non-union miners.

Miss Caroline Bishop, Beverly Hills, Cal., girl, often seen with Gene Tunney this winter at Miami Beach, Fla.

It's insisted that they're engaged, but neither is willing to say much about it.

"PALS," SMILES GIRL

'NOT ENGAGED' —TUNNEY



600 PROTEST OPENING OF MINE AS NON-UNION

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., March 26.—Six hundred striking coal miners, their wives and children staged a demonstration at Dorothy mine of the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal Company at Glen Robbins yesterday as a protest against operation of the mine nonunion.

"Just pals," intimates Miss Bishop; "Not engaged," offers Tunney. And the story persists.

2 BEATEN WITH CLUBS; JAIL 2 STRIKERS

Salvadore Bazzoli and Emil Nardinocai, employed by a railroad contractor at Longview, Bethel township, were clubbed and Bazzoli was stabbed in an attack reported to state police at Library yesterday. Their condition is not serious today. One alleged assailant, "Red" O'Farrel, a striking miner of Castle Shannon, was arrested by Trooper William Verneau on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. The other man is said to be Alex McKenna, also a striker.

Bazzoli and Nardinocai said they were walking along the tracks of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad when McKenna knocked Nardinocai unconscious with a club. O'Farrel then attacked Bazzoli with a knife, the troopers were told. The two were treated by Dr. C. M. Davis, of Library.

O'Farrel has been arrested several times in connection with attacks in the Library district, Trooper Verneau said. Recently he was charged with beating a coal and iron policeman in a free-for-all fight at Hays, it was said.

SPAN APPROACH SPACE RENTED

Councilman James F. Malone announced teray that arrangements had been completed to lease for $5 a day a 20-foot strip of property on the north side of Sixth avenue, between Fifth and Forbes in order to improve the approach to the new Liberty Bridge, to be opened tomorrow. Later ordinances for the purchase of the strip will be presented.

That block of Sixth avenue formerly was a right of way of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, but recently was acquired by Council for $26,000.

BOY INJURED IN FALL FROM 11TH ST. BRIDGE

Falling from a steel girder supporting the Eleventh street incline, South Side, last night, Benjamin Rodgers, 8, of 125 South Eleventh street, was injured seriously. He is in St. Joseph's Hospital suffering a fractured skull and internal injuries. Companions told police he had climbed the girder and then fell a distance of about 30 feet.

ESTEP MAKES PUBLIC HIS PLATFORM

A gradual reduction of the income tax in accord with the policy of Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon is advocated by Congressman Harry A. Estep today in the platform on which he is seeking reelection from the Thirty-fifth district. His principal opponent is former Congressman James M. Magee.

Other things advocated by Congressman Estep are the establishment of a definite and stable revenue policy, a tariff sufficiently high to protect industry and labor from foreign competition, the encouragement of aviation in connection with the peacetime Army and Navy and ample provision for disabled veterans and their dependents.

"I believe that some sort of new tariff legislation is imperative at this time for it has been called to my attention that a number of our industries are menaced at the present time by heavy importations of foreign goods," he said.

In his statement Mr. Estep referred to the fact that he is a member of the important House Ways and Means Committee, which formulates tariff and revenue bills.

WOUNDED MAN FINED $100

On his discharge from Mercy Hospital, where he had been a patient for six weeks with a gunshot wound in the abdomen, Albert Goltsman, 28, of 2216 Forbes street, was fined $100 by Magistrate John Orie. Goltsman's pal, Hymie Martin, 25, of Dinwiddie street, was fined a similar amount.

Goltsman said he was held up at Moultrie and Forbes streets. Police doubted his story and Police Captain James Hoey testified that Goltsman, in his opinion, was shot in a hi-jacking job. He testified that both Goltsman and Martin had been in other hi-jacking cases and escaped.

PROCLAMATION FAILS TO LIMIT PICKETS

NO RESTRICTION MADE AS TO NUMBERS

No restrictions as to the number of pickets allowed in the vicinity of an operating coal mine in time of strike are contained in the Sheriff's proclamation, about which there has been much controversy during the miners' strike in this district. The proclamation was made on April 1, 1927, and according to Sheriff Robert H. Braun was necessary to insure the safety of life, liberty and property.

The proclamation reads:

"I, Robert H. Braun, sheriff of Allegheny county, do hereby notify all mayors, burgesses, justices of the peace, constables, policemen and all other peace officers that the primary duty in maintaining public order, preserving public peace, preserving the lives of all citizens and protecting the public and preventing property from loss, injury and destruction rests upon you, and that if any person or persons shall unlawfully, riotously and tumultuously assemble together so as to endanger public peace, that you must immediately go among such persons and then and there make proclamation in the name of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, requiring and commanding all such persons to disperse and peaceably depart, and if such persons continue together, you are required to immediately cause their arrest and prosecution in the manner prescribed by law.

WARNINGS ISSUED

"All industrial corporations, coal mining companies and employes are hereby admonished not to engage or permit persons about their premises whose presence and conduct upon said premises, or going to and from the same should incite disturbance of the peace; and also that a special danger to the public peace, life and property can be created by bringing into particular communities employes and other persons commonly known as 'strike-breakers,' and all employes, bodies of employes, labor organizations and other persons acting in concert are also admonished of the danger to the public peace, life and property from assembling together of large numbers of persons upon the highways and elsewhere where they may be addressed by persons with inflammatory utterances tending to arouse and unnecessarily excite indignation and temper of the masses.

"No orderly or peaceable person or any orderly or peaceable gathering of citizens shall be disturbed or any of their lawful rights infringed upon, but whenever emergencies arise that endanger such liberties, all peace officers are commanded to disperse such gatherings and prevent disorder and direct and command those gathered together to proceed immediately about their lawful avocation or return to their homes."

EXCERPTS FROM LAW

Several excerpts from the law providing fines and jail sentences for violation of the riot act, refusing to aid the sheriff or destroying the proclamation, are reprinted on the placard. The heaviest penalty is for destruction of property, maximum imprisonment of seven years being provided for this offense.

The proclamation continues:

"Notice is also given that the law provides that all persons suffering any injury, loss of property or damages in any manner by reason of the acts of mobs or riotous persons can recover the full value therefor from the county and that such damages must be paid by the taxpayers and every person responsible therefor.

"Notice is also given that to guard against any and all disturbance of the public peace or interference with the rights of any and all citizens and to protect all property, provision has been made to uphold the law under any and all emergencies which can possibly arise by reason of the acts of any mobs, tumultous or riotous persons, and that all persons found inciting and encouraging disturbances of the peace or interfering with the rights of any person by any act of commission or omission will be immediately and summarily dealt with in the manner provided by law.

"All persons are therefore warned and directed to proceed about their daily avocations with the assurance that life, liberty and property is fully protected."

CHURCH DRIVE IS STARTED

An attendance of more than 500 filled the church and Sunday school-rooms of the Oakdale Presbyterian Church last night, when the six Protestant churches of Robinson Run Valley opened a two-weeks' evangelistic campaign. The Rev. Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, of Pittsburgh, minister for the two weeks, delivered a sermon on "First Things First." His topic for tonight is "Religion that Counts." The meetings will close April 8.

Tires are Not All Alike
You Can Get the Added Mileage, Lowered Cost, Greater Comfort and Beauty of Stage Line Construction Only in SAMSON TIRES
Balloon — High Pressure — Stage and Truck

Don't make the costly mistake of thinking that all tires are alike. You can prove to your own satisfaction—and with a distinct saving in cost—that there is a vast difference.

There are many tires that will probably give you about the same average mileage; but there is only one tire built in all the world that will give you the same remarkable mileage, the same dependable service, and the same low cost that the highly organized stage lines secure from tires in the gruelling service of their busses.

Samson alone—after making its reputation years ago by developing a tire that would outrun all others in stage service—was able to build that same rugged, wear-resisting construction into beautiful, comfortable passenger car tires at no higher cost.

Isn't it obvious that this stronger, heavier, more rugged construction should give thousands of miles more in service than the mass of tires built along ordinary lines?

And, since Samsons cost little or no more than these same standard makes, it's obvious, too, isn't it, that the added mileage you get from Samsons simply cuts down your cost per mile or affords you just that much free mileage over and above what you would have secured from the ordinary tire.

The next time you need a tire, think what stage line wear means to you—and come in and talk to us about Samsons.

It is our sincere belief that it is impossible to build a better tire than Samson

START MOOSE CHECK AFTER SIX RAIDS

A check on the present officers of six Western Pennsylvania lodges of the Loyal Order of Moose, among 18 inspected by prohibition agents Saturday, is being made today to determine if any were among the 73 Moose officers paroled after raids made July 29, 1926. Agents say liquor was found in the six lodges. Should it develop that any of the present officers were among those paroled, agents say, charges of contempt will be filed against them.

Stewards of the six lodges were arrested; Dominick Cortese, Donora; William Sterling, Elizabeth; Joseph Henesh, Tarentum; Charles E. Caldwell, East Pittsburgh; Nicholas Glasser, Braddock, and John Williams, Washington. Each was released under $1,000 bond for a hearing before the United States commissioner.

BOY IS ON TRIAL AS SLAYER

Trial of Alvin Hess, 16, of 247 Hazel way, West Homestead, who, with another boy, is accused of a $3.75 murder, was started in Criminal Court today. Hess pleaded not guilty before Judge A. B. Reid, and the selection of jurors was begun.

The killing of an unidentified man, on the Monongahela River bank at Brown's Bridge, last September 2, is laid to Hess and Robert Stevens, 14, of 214 Hazel way. It is alleged they beat their victim and robbed him of $3.75 and a street car check.

Hess is represented by Attorney H. L. Cramer, and is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt. Stevens was granted a separate trial.

APPROVE CITY BOND ISSUE

Approval of the proposed $7,248,000 city bond issue is voiced in resolutions of the Washington Heights Board of Trade and the Chartiers Board of Trade, received by Council today.

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce forwarded a resolution asking that the $300,000 set aside in the bond issue for recreation purposes be used to purchase new equipment rather than additional playgrounds.

WOMAN, 107, BELIEVES "PAL MARRIAGES" GOOD

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 26.—"Companionate marriages are all right, so far as I can see. At least they are something new and perhaps are worth a trial, anyway, before they are condemned," declared Mrs. Ida Goldberg during the celebration of the one hundred and seventh anniversary of her birth, at the United Home for Aged Hebrews. Mrs. Goldberg said 148 men proposed marriage to her within the last 12 months.

CUTS UNCLE, SLOW IN HELPING START AUTO

Joseph Praskovic, 38, of 1424 Geyer avenue, was too slow putting on his shoes to suit his nephew, Thomas Graiser, 26, of the same address, and Praskovic was slashed on the forehead. Three stitches closed the wound.

Graiser had asked his uncle to help start an automobile, and the preparations Praskovic made irked the nephew. This morning Graiser was fined $25 by Magistrate E. M. Hough.

ASK CITY BUY $2,500 U. S. RESERVE LAUNCH

An appropriation of $2,500 for the purchase of a motor launch is asked in a letter received by Council today from Lieut. J. H. Cox, commanding the Fourth district, U. S. Naval Reserve. An appropriation of $500 for the reserve is contained in the budget, but Lieut. Cox pointed out that the original appropriation in 1925 was $1,500, reduced in following years at the request of his organization.

DRIVER HELD AFTER MAN IS RUN DOWN

Hit by an automobile in Braddock avenue near Susquehanna street early today, John Mull, 40, of 538 Brushton avenue was injured seriously. He is in the Pittsburgh Hospital suffering internal injuries and several fractured ribs. Walter J. Norwalk of 3267 Parkview avenue, driver of the machine, is being held on a reckless driving charge.

PFARR SWORN IN FOR HIS SIXTEENTH TERM

Thomas L. Pfarr, county fire marshal, today was sworn into that office for the sixteenth time. Judge John A. Evans administered the oath.

Cab Driver His Own 'Fare' and Pays $9

J. R. Collins of 1237 Voskamp street, a taxicab driver, was a passenger in his own cab early today. Two holdup men who relieved him of $9 after engaging his cab in Margaretta street, forced him to ride inside the cab while they sat "up front." After a short ride he was thrown out at Negley avenue and Harvard street and the two robbers drove away.

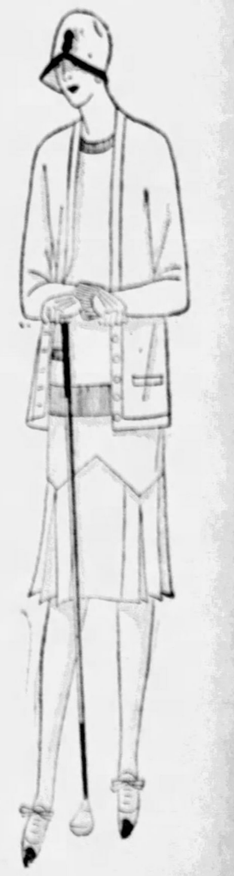
New In The Sportswear Shop—

Tweed Knit SPORTS OUTFITS

$22.50



Here is a dashing outfit for early golf, and for wear at spring sports events, knitted in the smart tweed effect, of wool flecked with rayon.

It consists of three pieces—a side-pleated skirt in a decidedly new style, a slip-on sweater with crew neckline, and a cardigan jacket. Obtainable in blossom, Swiss rose, Lucerne blue, and rose-beige; and in sizes for both women and misses.

The price is most moderate, when one considers that the slip-on and cardigan will serve as separate sweaters.

LINDY'S AIR RIDES REDOUBLE CONGRESSMEN'S KIN

VARIOUS RUSES EMPLOYED TO GAIN SEATS

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP.)—Bolling Field officials were still smiling to themselves today when they pondered on some of the ruses employed by hundreds last week to get into Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plane during the air derbies he conducted for members of Congress and their families.

At least one Congressman, upon reading the newspapers, found to his surprise that he had flown with Lindbergh—surprise because he knew that at the time he was busily engaged in legislative duties.

FIND NEW RELATIVES

Others looked dubiously at the flight lists, seeing thereon "relatives" they had never heard of. One passenger hunted out a newspaperman after he landed and naively explained that "in order to keep the record clear I want you to know that I actually am not Congressman Parks of Arkansas."

Perhaps even more than Col. Lindbergh, who took all of this well-meaning chicanery calmly, Assistant Secretary McCracken of the Commerce Department's aviation division, welcomed his day of rest Sunday. He had charge of the passenger lists and none knows better than he the nature of the pressure brought upon him for the coveted cards entitling their holders to seats in Lindbergh's plane. For five long days he was busy listening to the pleas of phantom congressmen and fending off small boys, pretty girls and occasionally a smiling old lady.

One young man wedged up to Lindbergh and proudly displayed a bundle of letters which he said his father had received from the flier's father while the elder Lindbergh was a member of Congress. Another approached a reporter with a handful of choice Cuban cigars for the trouble of "fixing up a ride" for him.

VIE FOR BEST SEATS

Once in the plane, the passengers vied with each other for the mechanic's seat next to Lindbergh, but after a time the flier put a stop to occupancy of this chair, saying that "some of these passengers talked too much."

After their flights, all crowded around to be photographed with Lindbergh, but this shortly was halted also.

More than a score of soldiers, aided by a double line of ropes, had their hands full controlling the crowds that surged forward as Lindbergh changed planes. Parents held tiny tots over their heads so they could see him, and school girls smiled their prettiest, beseeching the guards to let them through the lines. Four girls hiked the 20 miles from Baltimore and spent half a day looking for some congressman to "adopt" them.

Today's program will be different. Lindbergh has announced that only congressmen, none of their relatives, would be taken up. He has expanded his invitation, however, to include ambassadors, ministers and heads of legations, each with two members of their families or staffs.

FIRST WOMAN IN DANISH CABINET DIES

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. Bang, the first woman to hold a post in the Danish cabinet, died Sunday.

Mrs. Bang was minister of education in 1924. She became critically ill Thursday.

BRIDGE COLLECTOR IN OHIO IS ROBBED

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., March 26.—Using handkerchiefs as masks, two automobile bandits today overpowered John J. Paton, toll collector on the East Liverpool-Newell, W. Va., bridge and robbed him of $70.

Mabel's $25,000 Bid Spurned by Hinchliffe

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—Miss Mabel Boll, who made several attempts to secure passage in a plane attempting a western flight across the Atlantic last summer, has made public a letter from Capt. Walter Hinchliffe, written several months ago, refusing an offer of $25,000 to pilot her in a trans-Atlantic attempt.

The English flier, missing several weeks on his attempted flight to America from England this spring with Elsie Mackay, wrote that he had hopes of securing $50,000 from someone to make the flight. "Several people are already negotiating with me. I know I can get it," he wrote, after asking her forgiveness for appearing too commercial.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Exceptionally Interesting Spring Social Season to Come in Wake of Uneventful Lent

THOSE who have regarded with despair the "uneventfulness" of the Lenten season may now look forward to an exceptionally interesting spring season. Yes, there's really going to be so much going on right after Easter that one is justified in calling this period a season.

The chief events of this spring season will be weddings—lots of them—and the brides and bridegrooms are going to include some of the most prominent young people of the city. Already there are no fewer than nine weddings planned for April and four for June. Just why that charming month of May is being slighted by spring brides, I don't know.

Of course you all know that popular member of the younger set, Virginia Corbus Patterson, daughter of the Harry H. Pattersons, of Beechwood boulevard. Virginia has named Tuesday, June 26, as the date for her marriage to Murray Bell Grimes, son of William Dermitt Grimes, of South Negley avenue. Their engagement was announced last July, I believe.

There will be weddings in nearby towns, too, that will interest Pittsburgh folks. At the wedding of Esther May Baird, daughter of the William A. Bairds, of Washington, Pa., and Charles Henry Heppenstall, of Philadelphia, on April 4, Rachel Heppenstall, daughter of the Charles William Heppenstalls, of Heberton avenue, will be a bridesmaid, and Samuel Heppenstall, of Pittsburgh, will be an usher.

* * *

Nowadays Pittsburghers are down South one day and here the next, or so it seems anyway. Many people who have been down in Florida all winter are now returning for Easter and the post-Easter weddings.

Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, of Morewood avenue, who has been at Palm Beach for several months, is expected back for Easter, or very shortly after that.

Her son-in-law and daughter, the Frederick Ickes Merricks, already have returned from Palm Beach.

Some folks have just gone to Palm Beach though, and this refuge of society folks would certainly be quite an ideal spot for Easter vacation. At least Ann and Margaret Rose, daughters of the Don Roses, of Sewickley, think so. They are spending their vacation from Farmington with their parents. They went South with Mrs. William Christopher Robinson and her daughter, Mary Robinson. Mary Robinson and Susie Anderson will be guests of the Christopher D. Smithers, of Glen Cove, Long Island, for two weeks at Palm Beach, I hear.

Pittsburgh society folks are much given to traveling whether their destination be Palm Beach, Europe, or New York. Among the most recent visitors from this city to Gotham are Mrs. Morgan B. Schiller and her son Frederick C. Schiller.

The George Crawfords, who have been in Palm Beach for some time, have now decided to go to another resort. They are planning to go to White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, tomorrow, I understand. There they will occupy Casino Cottage for the season.

Among the members of society from Pittsburgh, New York and other cities present at the annual Aiken Horse Show, which ended at sunset Friday night in Aiken, S. C., were Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederic Byers. One would expect the Byerses to be there, of course, for they have always shown much interest in the horse shows in this district. Two of Mr. Byers' entrants won prizes, I have heard.

Members of the very young set of Sewickley have their own social affairs just like their older brothers and sisters. Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Yost, of Edgeworth, entertained at a dinner in the Edgeworth Club Friday night in honor of their son, James Mitchell Yost, a student in the Sewickley Academy.

* * *

Mrs. P. R. Hilleman, of Beechwood boulevard, entertained with a bridge luncheon Saturday in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club, in honor of Miss Ann Feckstein, of Maryland avenue, whose marriage to her son, P. R. Hilleman, Jr., will be solemnized in April. There were 32 guests, and the appointments were in pink and white.

* * *

The senior class of St. Joseph's Academy, Greensburg, will present a religious drama, "Patricia," Friday night in the school auditorium. Miss Angela Glockler, of this city, will have the title role.

* * *

The Queen Esther Society of the Sheraden Methodist Episcopal Church will present "Getting Acquainted With Madge" Thursday and Friday nights in the Langley High School. Miss Mary Alice Jackson is directing the cast and Miss Nellie Wolstancroft will sing, accompanied by Miss Florence Baer. Miss Helen Meehan will be the pianist.

Miss Wilhelmina Eberhardt Bunting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bunting, of Aylesboro avenue, whose marriage to Theodore George Bixler, son of Clayton Bixler, of Philadelphia, will be solemnized April 14 in the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, will have her sister, Miss Rosemary Bunting, as her maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be her aunt, Miss Hilda Eberhardt, and Miss Lucille Wiggin. Joseph Sevick and William Foster will be ushers. The ceremony, which will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Robert Nelson Meade, will be followed by a breakfast in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club. * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. McMillan, of Zephyr avenue, Sheraden, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Laura E. McMillan, to William E. Sproul, son of Mrs. Ida M. Sproul, of Dewey avenue, Ingram. An early summer wedding is planned.

Miss Margaret Carson Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Frank Thompson, of Glen Osborne, returned home Saturday from Rosemary Hall School, Greenwich, Conn., for the spring vacation.

* * *

Dr. Albert Douglas Price, of Hazelwood avenue, has announced the engagement of his daughter, Miss Alberta Douglas Price, to Thomas Singer Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd Craig, of Washington. Miss Price attended the Putnam School for Girls and later was a student at Vassar. Mr. Craig was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1923. No wedding date has been set.

HOLD BENEFIT BRIDGE

MISS HELEN SHUSTER MISS MARY NORTH

Miss Helen Shuster and Miss Mary North are actively interested in the bridge party which the Pittsburgh Club of Alpha Gamma Delta Alumnae will give April 14 in Gimbels as a benefit for the children's camp maintained at Jackson, Mich., by the national sorority.

TWENTIETH CENTURY TO HEAR DUNSANY

The Twentieth Century Club, whose lecture list has included the names of many distinguished speakers this season, has added another in engaging Lord Dunsany, the Irish playwright, for April 16. Whether this celebrated writer will read or lecture has not yet been determined. Another open date, April 2, has been filled by Mrs. Alice Van Lear Carrick, who will speak on "Period Furniture," a subject upon which she is an authority as well as an author. Dr. Frank Bohn in a current events talk on April 9 and Margaret Widdemer in a talk on poetry will round the month's engagements, the season coming to a close with the annual meeting and election of officers on April 30.

The following is the League of Woman Voters' schedule of meetings for the week: Monday afternoon—Twelfth Ward League in Kingsley House with Garnet Speer, Jacob Shugold and Mrs. Q. W. Hershey as speakers; Monday night—Twenty-first Ward League in Manchester Educational Center with Mrs. Elizabeth B. Motz demonstrating a small model voting machine; Eleventh Ward, in Peabody High School, Mrs. J. O. Miller and Senator Frank J. Harris speaking; Tuesday evening—A dinner by the Twenty-fifth Ward League in honor of the chairman, Mrs. A. L. Fillmore and Mrs. Motz; Thirtieth Ward League, in Junior High School, Senator Harris and Mrs. Miller, speakers; Wednesday afternoon—Dormont League in the home of Mrs. H. L. Dixon, Hillsdale avenue, Mrs. Q. W. Hershey speaking; Swissvale, in Odd Fellows' Hall, with Mrs. Motz speaking; Thursday afternoon—Ben Avon League, at the home of Mrs. Elmer W. Flaccus, Flaccus road, Mrs. A. H. Bowman speaking. Mrs. J. O. Miller, state chairman, will address the Dauphin County League on Thursday afternoon in the Civic clubhouse, Harrisburg.

Group No. 1, including Allegheny, Bellevue, Manchester, North Side, Perrysville, Jubilee, Sterrett, Emma Moore and White Women's Christian Temperance Unions, will hold an all-day institute in the Perrysville Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow. Mrs. Starr Martin will speak at the morning session and Mrs. H. S. Metcalf will conduct a play in the afternoon.

* * *

La Wimoda Club has issued invitations for an anniversary tea to be held the afternoon of April 2 with Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, president of the Congress of Clubs, as guest of honor. The club will have its regular business session April 9 and has a card party scheduled for April 23.

* * *

Allegheny County Girl Scout headquarters has inaugurated a training class for the members of troop committees throughout the county. That the idea has met with cordial response, the enrollment of over 50 testifies. The class will meet for four two-hour sessions on Thursday mornings at the Congress of Clubs and is under the direction of Mrs. Laura Holland Macdonald, local director, and Miss Marian G. Keeney, local field captain. Local Girl Scout headquarters has been fortunate in gaining the co-operation of the committee on public welfare of the Congress in its search for suitable leader material for the many local troops that are in need of new or additional leaders. Mr. W. F. Cooley, chairman of the committee, has appointed Mrs. Paul Diffenbacher as special Girl Scout representative, and her efforts have already procured valuable additions to the ranks of Girl Scout leaders.

"Adventures of a Lady Law Maker" will be related by Miss Helen Grimes to Quotarians and their guests at a dinner meeting of the Quota Club on Monday in the Fort Pitt Hotel. A surprise program by local Quotarians will also feature the meeting.

* * *

The Winona class of the Second Presbyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, will present a one-act play, "The Kleptomaniac," tomorrow evening. The entertainment will include a musical program.

FRIENDS PRAISE REV. SHELTON

Honor was paid to the Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, last night at a testimonial meeting held in the church. The auditorium was filled with members of the congregation and friends of the pastor from other congregations, as well as clergymen from other denominations.

The recent "attack" upon Dr. Shelton to have him removed from the church was branded as "Un-Christian" by the Rev. Dr. James R. Cox, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church. The meeting was called by friends of the pastor who wanted to show their faith in him, after charges had been brought against him by members of the church.

At the close of the speaking program a resolution was unanimously adopted pledging full and united support to Dr. Shelton. Among the speakers who praised the work of the local clergyman were Rabbi Benjamin Lichter of the B'Nai Israel Congregation, State Senator Morris Einstein, the Rev. Dr. W. I. Wishart, president of the Council of Churches; Charles D. McShane of the Anti-Saloon League, the Rev. J. Sala Leland of the Homewood Methodist Protestant Church, Dr. George A. Dillinger and Dr. M. N. Greer.

Scores of telegrams and letters from prominent ministers and laymen, expressing approval of Dr. Shelton and his work, including one from the Rev. Dr. J. A. Kelso, president of the Western Theological Seminary, were read at the meeting.

Remnants and Piece-Ends

Bringing the Sale to a Close
Starts Tomorrow (Tuesday)

OUR stock is down now to part pieces and thousands of remnants, ranging from one to six yards. But fortunately these are remnants and piece-ends of the same beautiful Silks, Woolens and Velvets which found such eager buyers in the past three weeks. They have all been re-ticketed, not by the yard, but by the piece—the whole length now, in many cases, for the former price of a single yard.

The Sale, tomorrow, enters its last and most exciting stage. Everything must be sold, regardless of what price is made to do it.

These short ends are highly representative of the $100,000 original stock, and the prices will justify laying away for future use. If there were wonderful values in the beginning, there are still more wonderful and incredible values, these last days of remnants and part-pieces! The Sale now becomes an exciting "rummage," with great values at stake!

ARREST AUTOIST GIRLS SHIELDED

Frank Walsh, 28, of 163 Meadow street, was arrested today as the mysterious auto driver whose identity three injured girls had refused to disclose. He was charged with reckless driving by County Detective Joseph Bodnar before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan and released under bail.

The girls were injured early Saturday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a pole in Penn township. Walsh, detectives say, carried away the license plates and the members of the party pledged themselves to secrecy. Walsh's identity was established through the license number noted by a passerby.

At the Pittsburgh Hospital today two of the girls, Lillian Todaro, 19, of 6600 Penn avenue, and Alverda Napolitana, 19, of 6489 Frankstown avenue, were reported recovering from severe injuries. The third girl, Alverda's sister, Edith, 17, was only slightly hurt.

PRISONER WHO ESCAPED IN HOSPITAL

Newton Vassar, 52, Negro, who escaped from Westmoreland county jail Friday after he had been transferred there from Allegheny county's bailwick, is in a Pittsburgh hospital, a victim of advanced tuberculosis, his attorney informed Federal Court today.

Judge R. M. Gibson signed an order authorizing hospital treatment for Vassar today.

When Vassar complained of the lack of fresh air on the crowded Allegheny jail and asked to be removed to the Greensburg jail the court granted his request.

Friday, after the Greensburg warden had refused to accept him, Vassar escaped from a deputy marshal by walking from the warden's office. A note from Vassar to his attorney today revealed his whereabouts.

Vassar was under sentence of 18 months in the Federal Penitentiary for dope peddling.

WOMAN HIT BY TROLLEY DIES

Struck by a street car in Center avenue Saturday night, Miss Mary Quess, 75, died in the Montefiore Hospital at 7:20 o'clock this morning. At the hospital the woman gave her address as 2205 Webster avenue, but residents at that address said she never had lived there.

TYPOTHETAE PRESIDENT TO TALK AT CARNEGIE

Adam L. Lewis, of Toronto, Can., president of the United Typothetae of America, will arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow to give addresses at Carnegie Institute of Technology and the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commrece. His address at Carnegie Tech will be given at 2:30 p. m. before the students of the department of printing. In the evening President Lewis will be the principal speaker at a dinner in the Chamber of Commerce under the auspices of the Typothetae of Pittsburgh, the Craftsmen's Club and the Printers' Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

Shakespeare, Ibsen Can Hold Own Against Film Dramatists, Miss Eva Le Gallienne Says

By PEARL GROSS.

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 26.

LITTLE theater groups in the United States should try repertory rather than stock company productions, suggested Eva Le Gallienne, director and star of the Civic Repertory Company, in an interview here.

"In 20 years, repertory theaters will be prevalent all over this country, playing at $1 top price and less," said Miss Le Gallienne.

"Instead of the stock system, more profitable results will be realized by adopting a set of repertory plays and enacting them in rotation. Little Theater groups, who are easily discouraged by the lack of interest in their so-called 'stock' productions, are afraid that in repertory some of the plays will be failures. In the repertory idea, the collection of plays on schedule always consists of at least two or three successes. These will always keep alive and hold up the bill for the season.

"My own repertory company has been enormously successful. The improvement this year has been 25 per cent. Patronage increases steadily each season. If we had started with one play, however, we would have failed.

"My own experience in repertory proves that Shakespeare, Ibsen and Shaw can hold their own against the scenario writers of Hollywood. The movies ruined the road show business, but discriminating people in every city in the country are appreciative of good plays.

"Many of the greatest plays in the drama can be produced cheaply by the repertory groups. Only one thing must be remembered: They must be reasonably priced. Real intelligence is found among poor people. In Europe, Little Theaters have the advantage of being subsidized by the government.

"This season I am introducing the idea of cutting prices in half two days a week for those who hold memberships in my theater. I firmly believe that every community can subsidize its own little theater. It is a source of the greatest joy and inspiration."

Miss Le Gallienne mentioned the Moscow Art Theater, the greatest repertory group in the world which started merely as a "Little Theater." She criticized the production of "Shakespeare in Modern Clothes" as unseemly to the great Bard of Avon.

"Shakespeare is absurd in Tuxedo and evening clothes. It is not the way he is supposed to be played. The characters don't behave like human beings." Miss Le Gallienne's success with her own theater here has been phenomenal. In two years, she has built up, on her own ideas, a veritable army of followers in this city. Tickets at the Civic Repertory sell from 50 cents to a little over a dollar, for the best seats.

"I get hundreds of letters every week," she stated today, "in which people say I have made them positively 'thrilling.' All little theaters can do the same."

MUSIC

Pittsburgh Symphony Society

SYRIA MOSQUE

PROGRAM.

Invocation.....Rev. Robert N. Meade
Prelude to "Die Meistersinger"...Wagner
(Played in memory of Carl Bernthaler, whose spirit was dominant in keeping alive the movement for a symphony orchestra in Pittsburgh. This work was his favorite and a solace to him during the last days of his life.)
"Oh Don Fatale" from "Don Carlos".....Verdi
Margaret Matzenauer.
Symphony, No. 5, Op. 67, C Minor.....Beethoven
Allegro con brio
Andante con moto
Scherzo-Allegro
Allegro
(a) Adagietto.....Bizet
(b) Tambourin Chinois.....Kreisler
(Adapted for Orchestra by Jan M. Fleck of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and played for the first time).
(c) Shepherd's Hey.....Grainger
"Mon Coeur S'ouvre a ta Voix" from "Samson and Delilah".....Saint-Saens
Margaret Matzenauer.
Overture "Solenelle 1812," Op. 49.....Tschaikowsky

The Pittsburgh Symphony Society gave its second concert in Syria Mosque last night, and as before the house was filled and always enthusiastic. Elias Breeskin, to whom much credit is due for the organization of the orchestra and for its musical progress to date, conducted in safe and sound manner.

It is too early in the history of this orchestra to expect marked changes from concert to concert. The director cannot as yet allow his imagination free play; if he keeps the music marching, watches intonation, balance of tone and accuracy in rhythms he has already much to keep his wits alive. There were moments of bad intonation in the strings, but to balance that fault they played in the grand manner when they reached the finale of the "1812." It was in the fugue of the Meistersinger and in the less obvious parts of the symphony where the orchestra fell below expectations. Everyone kept going, but no one seemed to know just what it was all about. The group of lighter music was happily chosen.

Margaret Matzenauer, contralto of the Metropolitan Opera, was soloist, and besides her programmed arias sang Schumann's Fruehlingsnacht, two Mexicon songs arranged by Frank LaForge, and Gertrude Ross' Dawn in the Desert as encores. It is always pleasant to watch this fine contralto; she has ever been a fine musician and lends dignity to every performance of which she is a part. If the voice has lost some of its color during years of great operatic singing, one feels there is great understanding of great values behind all Matzenauer gives. Earl Truxell accompanied the encores.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Comedy Director For Jannings' Photoplay

Malcolm St. Clair, star director of effervescent comedies whose deft touch imparted many a gleam to the recent "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," will be at the megaphone for the next picture starring Emil Jannings, according to announcement by Paramount. Jannings now is at work under the direction of Ernst Lubitsch, making a spectacular Russian historical picture, "High Treason." His other American-made releases have been the highly successful dramatic films, "The Way of All Flesh" and "The Last Command." The title and theme of the new picture have not been announced, but in any event the assignment is significant—whether it is to be a St. Clair type of picture for Jannings, or a Jannings type for St. Clair.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK SINGS IN MOSQUE TONIGHT

Mme. Schumann-Heink will sing her farewell concert in Pittsburgh in Syria Mosque tonight. She will have as her guests tonight ten persons who heard her in Pittsburgh from 15 to 25 years ago. Her program will contain many request numbers, among them "The Rosary," "The Erlking," "Taps," "Trees," "The Lord is Mindful of His Own."

During intermission the Allegheny County Committee of the American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, will present Mme. Schumann-Heink with a testimonial of their esteem of her services in behalf of ex-service men and women of the World War.

Theater Seats on Instalment Plan Now

LONDON, March 26.—(AP.)—Theater seats on the instalment plan is the latest scheme devolved to take care of spectators at the Adelphi Theater. "Clowns in Clover" has been running at that house for several months and seats have been in continuous demand. The management now announces that beginning Easter Monday places can be reserved six weeks in advance and paid for by instalments of 1 shilling a week.

TUNES AND FUN ON STAGE

The Chicago production of "Hit the Deck" will open in the Nixon tonight. "Hit the Deck" is a nautical musical comedy and the cast is headed by Queenie Smith, Charles Purcell and Juanita Chevalo.

"My Maryland" will again take possession of the Alvin tonight. The same company that was seen here last fall will play it again this week, being headed by Lottice Howell, Betty Byron, George Rymer and Alexander Clark, and assisted by the same big male chorus.

With "My Bag o' Trix," by Neville Fleeson, as her vehicle, Trixie Friganza heads the vaudeville in the Davis this week. The screen attraction is Olive Borden in "Come to My House."

The attraction announced for the Nixon, beginning Monday evening, April 2, for one week, is "The 19th Hole," by Frank Craven, who also is starred. Mr. Craven comes here from his fall and winter engagements in the George M. Cohan and Little theaters in New York.

Announcement is made by the Alvin of the booking, for the week of April 9, of "The Love Call." It comes here after engagements in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. "The Love Call" is a musical version of "Arizona."

Irving Berlin and Wife Visit in Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—Hollywood has taken Irving Berlin straight to its heart. He is one of the best liked men who has ever visited here. He and Otto Kahn, New York banker, were guests of honor at the Breakfast Club and Mr. Berlin said he thought it was the greatest organization of its kind in the country. Mrs. Berlin, who was Elin Mackay, as all the reading public knows, has also made many friends here, although one does not see her about as much as her talented husband.

ARREST SUSPECT HERE FOR VIRGINIA MURDER

Said to be wanted for murder in Orange, Va., Carl Taylor, 25, a Negro of 5632 Harvard street, was captured in his home last night after police had surrounded the residence. Lieut. Nuncie Marino entered the house and surprised Taylor, who was ready to retire. The Negro attempted to run to another room, but Marino overpowered him. Taylor is said to have killed another Negro January 6, during a crap game argument. Notification of his arrest will be sent to Orange authorities.

LOCAL VIOLINIST TO PRESENT RECITAL

Markus Klein, local violinist and teacher, will give a recital with Earl Truxell as accompanist at the Carnegie Music Hall next Sunday night. The concert will be open to the public.

Patrolman Joseph K. Hemphill, 28, 913 Union avenue, who, after his arrest Saturday, admitted police say, that he had stolen $1,000 worth of furnishings from the Oliver mansion, Galveston and Ridge avenues, while stationed there as a guard, was held for court today.

Hemphill's deserted wife reported to the police that her husband a year ago had placed the stolen furnishings in his home. The loot was recovered. Today Magistrate E. M. Hough held him on a larceny charge.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES TO HOLD BUNDLE DRIVE

More than 100,000 bundles of garments, bedclothing and similar articles is the harvest anticipated in a drive, starting tomorrow and extending over three days, of the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries to obtain used clothing through the schools and churches of Greater Pittsburgh, it is announced by the Rev. Albert G. Curry, director. In Wilkinsburg, Dormont and Mt. Lebanon, fire engine houses will be used as collecting stations. Trucks will call at collection points within 20 miles of Pittsburgh, and contributions from points beyond that will be shipped in by freight or express.

12 OVERCOME FIGHTING FIRE

$10,000 DAMAGE FLAMES' TOLL IN NORTH SIDE

Three business houses were raked by flames and a dozen firemen were partially overcome by smoke while fighting a fire last midnight at 806-808-810 Federal street. Dense smoke filled the basements of the three buildings, all one-story frame structures. Firemen, using gas masks, were forced to make frequent trips to the street for fresh air. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

The fire originated in the basement of the Scarborough-Klauss Hardware Company at 810 Federal street and spread to the basement of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store at 806 Federal street and to the T. C. Kidner cigar store at 808 Federal street. A pedestrian who discovered the fire called the firemen by phone and firemen, upon their arrival, sent in an additional alarm.

Traffic was tied up for more than an hour in Federal street and considerable excitement prevailed in the neighborhood when the dense smoke filled the street. Police from the North Side station established fire lines and kept large crowds out of danger. District Fire Chief Michael Shannahan estimated the damage.

COAL COMPANY CLOSES UNION HALL

THOMAS J. BRENNAN J. R. FERNS

Officials of the Francis mine of the Greensburg-Connellsville Coal and Coke Company, near Burgettstown, recently boarded up the union hall. Superintendent O. A. Wakefield says it was done to keep out the I. W. W., but union officials objected and produced a deed proving ownership to the property. Wakefield ordered the boards removed for a union meeting Monday afternoon, but the superintendent said he would board it up again. Brennan is president of the local union and Ferns is an international organizer.

GIRL'S FATHER SEES AUTO HIT HER

As Russell Farrell, fireman of Engine Company No. 32, stepped off the street car at Chartiers and Lorenz avenue today, he saw an automobile strike his daughter, Betty Farrell, 7, of 31 Rudolph street, who was on her way to St. James' Catholic Church.

Farrell picked up his daughter and in a commandeered automobile rushed her to Mercy Hospital. Examination revealed her collar bone had been fractured.

Harold Towne, of Coraopolis, driver of the car, was arrested.

SPURNS PALM; SHOT TO DEATH

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 26.—An hour after Joseph Tranquillo, 41, refused a handshake last night with Leonardo Salerno, 35, an enemy for several years, Tranquillo was shot fatally. In a dying statement at the New Castle Hospital, police say, he named Salerno as the killer.

Salerno disappeared after the shooting, which occurred in front of his home. The fatal bullet lodged in Tranquillo's chest, after piercing two small books in his coat pocket. They were ritual books of the House of Savoia, an Italian lodge, of which both men were members.

CHICAGO AIR PILOT HELD IN ACCIDENT

CHICAGO, March 26.—Leonard Quintall, airplane pilot, was being held today pending an investigation into the crash of his plane, which resulted in perhaps fatal injuries to his passenger and endangered the lives of a score of motorists. Sidney Sheridan, 25, was the injured passenger. Quintall, pilot and owner of the plane, was only slightly bruised.

Officers arrested Quintall when they learned neither he nor his plane had been licensed to fly. The machine was an antique dual control biplane type. He blamed Sheridan for the crash, claiming the passenger had become panic-stricken when 200 feet in the air and had seized one of the controls.

I. O. O. F. OFFICER DIES SUDDENLY

TOWANDA, Pa., March 26.—(AP.)—Eugene Chubbuck, 65, former superintendent of the Odd Fellows' orphanage at Sunbury and well known among Odd Fellows of the state, died suddenly yesterday at his home in Monroeton, near here.

Chubbuck, who was postmaster at Monroeton, was a director of the Odd Fellows' Home for the Aged at Middletown and first vice president of the orphanage at Sunbury. He was born at Orwell, Pa.

PADLOCKS SNAPPED ON SALOON AND STORE

The saloon of Max Miller and George Lukosanti, Third avenue and Third street, Carnegie, and the store of Dick Gouffey, 91 Fullerton street, were ordered padlocked for one year by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson on account of liquor law violations.

DENY COMPANY BROKE PACT

duced 3,360,000 tons of coal at its Fairmont, W. Va., mines, while operating on a union basis, and in 1927 produced 5,590,000 tons on a nonunion basis. In 1924 the company employed 4,180 men, who averaged 131 days of work each, while in 1927 it had 4,500 employes who averaged 256 days each. The company, said Anderson, put $4,990,000 into the community at Fairmont via the payroll in 1924, and $6,825,000 in 1927. The average earnings of the union miners in 1924 were $1,195, he said, and the average earnings of the nonunion miners in 1927 were $1,517.

"There seems to be a grievance against the results of this policy in some quarters," said Anderson. "I agree with the senators that we are confronted with an industrial war."

When Anderson had presented his statistics, Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers' Journal, passed a note along the press table reading:

"According to his figures, the men worked 125 days additional to earn an additional $322."

"Mob vs. Union Army"

Continuing his characterization of the trouble in the coal fields as a war, Anderson spoke of the strikes and agreements in recent years as the major engagements. The war, he said, had lasted twice as long as the World War. The operators, he said, were just a mob, while the United Mine Workers were a well disciplined army, ably led by "General" John L. Lewis. It is an army of "conscripts," Anderson said, drafted by the "checkoff" system.

Anderson said he had heard Lewis referred to as the "Jack Dempsey" of the labor movement, but the witness thought that the miners' leader deserved to be compared with a great general rather than with a prize fighter.

"If he were to be psychoanalyzed," said Anderson, "I suspect we would find that his favorite characters in history had been the Caesars, the Alexanders and the Napoleons."

Reviewing in detail the history of the coal war since 1913, Anderson said, "collective bargaining ceased 10 years ago. There have been no negotiated agreements since then'."

Anderson quoted various authorities on the issues involved in the coal strike in the past decade. The quotations tended to show that the United Mine Workers were in the wrong.

Coming down to the Baltimore agreement of 1924 with the United Mine Workers, which the Consolidation Coal Company is accused of having broken, Anderson said his company did not participate in the conference and was not a party to the agreement. He admitted, however, that the company was a member of the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' Association, which made the agreement with the union, and that several officers of the company, including Anderson himself, participated in the conference, as delegates of the operators' association.

"Forced Into Pact"

The union's chief representative at Baltimore, said Anderson, was Percy Tetlow.

"Mr. Tetlow," said Anderson, "is one of the fairest, squarest and most intelligent men I have ever met."

"That is the general opinion of him in Ohio," remarked Senator Simeon D. Fess of that state.

"But Mr. Tetlow, at that conference, was the most completely tied, hand and foot, agent with whom I ever had dealings."

Anderson said the operators were allowed no opportunity to suggest terms for the Baltimore agreement, but were required to sign on the dotted line, with the alternative of a strike as the penalty for refusal.

Anderston stated that while the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' Association signed the Baltimore agreement, many of the companies comprising the association would have nothing to do with it and withdrew from the association. Anderson contended that a member of the association was just as free to withdraw and to refuse to abide by an agrement that the association had made as a rank and file member of the union has to withdraw from the organization.

Signed—and Broke

Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, interrupted to ask Anderson if his company had not, through its officers, signed the Baltimore agreement, and Anderson said it had.

"The agreement was for three years, wasn't it?" asked Wagner.

"How long did you operate under it?" asked Wagner.

The witness did not answer the question, but, like every other operator who has been accused of breaking the agreement and has been similarly questioned, squirmed, evaded and tried to becloud the issue in a maze of words.

It was necessary to repeat the question four or five times before Anderson could be induced to say that the Consolidation Coal Company ceased to operate under the three-year agreement in "something less than 14 months."

They are only a small part of Boy Scout Work.....

BACK of all the pleasures in Boy Scout work lies a serious purpose—it appeals strongly to the grown-ups.

Thirty-two boys constitute a complete troop. Each troop has a scoutmaster. He studies his boys—their aptitudes and their likes and dislikes. His intimate knowledge of them helps them to find their life work.

Every thinking man knows that in his youth he would have been glad to have had the guidance of a scoutmaster. He knows how valuable such help is today to his son or the sons of his friends.

We believe that work like that is very worth while, and that it should never fail for lack of a permanent financial basis.

Under a Declaration of Trust which we have made and recorded in the Allegheny County Court House, contributions (even as low as one dollar) from anyone may be made a part of the endowment of the Allegheny County Council Boy Scouts of America. That endowment is a perpetual trust. Only the income may be used; the principal will be kept intact for all time.

Would you like to have a part in this work which will go on and on and on for years after all of us have gone?

Write or telephone to any of our officers, or fill in the coupon below. You will be given full information about the Boy Scout Trust Fund.

CHISHOLM TOT TAKEN BY UNCLES

LEAVES ORPHANAGE

"Bobbie" Chisholm, whose father slew his other two sons, weeps as he bids farewell to Matron Rockwell, of the Juvenile Home in Crown Point, Ind. Bodies of his two small brothers, killed by his father, were found floating in a canal near Hammond, Ind., recently.

UNCLES CLAIM HIM

"Bobbie" closes his eyes and visions toys he will have to play with in Cowansville, Canada, where he is being taken by two uncles, Edgar Chisholm (right) and Joseph R. Smith (left), who will provide for their unfortunate nephew there. Perhaps "Bobbie" will again have a chance to be a happy, carefree boy and live a normal life.

Wants Liberty Or Death; Ask Divorce

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—Like his famous namesake, Patrick Henry Hatton wanted his liberty or death. He so informed his wife, Arlien Hatton, and his mother-in-law. They, in turn, told the Los Angeles Superior Court about it and Mrs. Hatton's divorce decree was on file today.

"He told me unless he got his freedom from the bonds of wedlock he would surely die," the mother-in-law testified.

EMERGENCY AID SAVES WOMAN

The application of a tourniquet by police who answered an emergency call to the State Theater Building, Fifth avenue, early today probably saved the life of Mrs. Grace Swany, 35, of 115 Steuben street, a charwoman, bleeding profusely from a deep gash in the right forearm. She was removed to Allegheny General Hospital.

Mrs. Swany fell while carrying a large water bottle and suffered a deep gash in the arm. Wagonmen John Hooper and William Pottmeyer found the woman weak from the loss of blood and they applied the tourniquet before rushing her to the hospital in the patrol. Seven stitches were placed in the wound.

ATTACK VICTIM DIES HIDING KILLER

International News Service

NEW YORK, March 26.—An autopsy was to be performed by the medical examiner today in an attempt to penetrate the mystery surrounding the death of Gordon Hampson, young concert pianist, who succumbed in St. Luke Hospital seven days after a baffling attack which he refused to discuss.

Death was due to embolism following an injury to the jaw, which had been broken, apparently in an assault.

Jack Parrish, close friend of the injured man, visited Hampson and told police today the only reply he obtained to his inquiry about the attack was, "The less said about it the better."

Mrs. William May Wright, noted concert singer and society leader, said today the musician declared he believed he was struck by a burglar. Hampson was Mrs. Wright's accompanist on several of her appearances in New York society.

Hampson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hampson, reside in Indianapolis. The young musician recently appeared before President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes.

Police, investigating an anonymous telephone call at the time of the attack, found blood stains in Hampson's apartment, but no signs of a struggle.

APARTMENT ENTERED

Clarence Hyatt, superintendent of the apartment house where Hampson lived, today recalled that the musician's apartment was broken into and the telephone wire cut a few weeks ago. None of his property was molested. Police believe Hampson might have been killed in a fight with an unknown person.

As Hampson had requested that news of the attack be kept secret, police were not told of the case until after the body had been directed to the morgue by the medical examiner's office.

Hampson was due to appear last night at a Broadway theater as accompanist for Sir Rosin. A note was inserted on the programs explaining that Hampson would be unable to appear "because of a serious injury."

No Shock Short of Electrocution Will Stop the Rat in Quest of Food

We inherit a hunger complex but not a taste for particular things, was one truth developed in yesterday's chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," in The Sun-Telegraph. What we like to eat we have learned to eat, as the "pies that mother used to make." And we all eat our "peck of dirt."

Preservation of Species

CHAPTER XLI.

THERE comes a day when the gates to the elephant house are shut—must; as Mr. Freud would say, he has a libido complex. It is also called the sex urge. The elephant is dangerous. The urge is so strong that bananas and peanuts do not inhibit it. Sometimes nothing can; he gets so mad he must be shot.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

There comes a time when the farmer misses the sow's face at the trough. If he knows the livestock of his neighbors, he knows where to find her. It may be miles away and many fences in between. She will be there.

Laboratory tests have been made to determine the danger a hungry animal will face to get food. One easily measured is the crossing of an electrically stimulated plate; it must accept the shock to get at the food. No shock short of electrocution will stop the food-hungry rat. It will face the same charge for a mate.

The biologic function of sex is reproduction. In all species with sexual reproduction, the sex impulse is and must inherently be as strong as the impulse to live. The mechanism for reproduction is enormously varied, but not more so than other mechanisms useful to food and oxygen metabolism, for capturing food, for defense from enemies. The mating cycle also varies with different species, as does the period of infancy, the relationship between parents and offspring, and the methods of courtship.

Variations in Species

In short, each species has its own reproduction complex. So far as the species is concerned, the individual male or femals which does not play his or her part in this complex contributes nothing biologically useful to the species and might as well never have been born.

Sterility in vertebrates is not more unknown than other congenital variations which distinguish defective individuals from the normal run. In states of nature it is to be presumed that all normal individuals play their part in the reproduction complex. Why this is so is no more, no less, explicable than why a food complex impels animals to seek and ingest food.

The drive for food is backed by a sensori-motor mechanism which functions until food is secured and ingested. Food itself in the alimentary canal is stimulus or drive for further actions and reactions. But the initial drive was hunger; it was a potent impulse to reactions, thereby bringing about adjustment.

The drive for a mate, likewise, is backed by a sensori-motor mechanism which functions until the mate is secured. Subsequent changes are themselves the stimuli which impels to nest-building and other activities which will be useful for the life of the progeny.

Biologically, the chief distinction between the food-hunger and the sex-hunger impulses is that they function in different rhythms. These vary in different species, even in the same order of vertebrates. But in general the food rhythm is fairly continuous from day to day throughout life; the sex rhythm is confined to certain fairly definite years of the individual life cycle, and within these years to fairly definite seasons or periods.

A hardly less important biologic distinction between the food-impulse and the mate-impulse is that in one case the adjusting reaction is primarily individual action; in the other, two individuals of opposite sex participate—and only if they agree to such participation. Herein is an element of huge import in setting patterns of behavior, even in modifying structure.

Species vary greatly in these two respects. In some, secondary sexual differences are slight; in others, marked and highly characteristic—as in most species of birds, many species of vertebrates, and the anthropoid apes. Patterns of behavior vary, from extraordinarily complex courtship processes in some birds to next to no courtship in many vertebrates. But whether the courtship be simple or complex, short or prolonged, there must be the biologic equivalent of courtship in all species with sexual reproduction.

There are three biologically significant facts:

(1) The mate-impulse is driven by an unconscious mechanism and not by a "desire of offspring." Whole species of animals mate and never survive the mere depositing of the eggs. The primary impulse is not eggs, nests or cradles; it is for a mate. As in food; animals do not seek food for "processes of metabolism," they seek and ingest food because impelled by food-hunger. That hunger satisfied, the alimentary canal will do the rest and furnish the voiding stimuli. So with the mate-impulse. It knows nothing of cubs, squabs or children. The drive is for the mate.

Preservation of Species

(2) The mere fact that this or that species reproduces through the mechanism of sex means that the two sexes must be different and must be responsive one to the other. In other words, in sexual reproduction there must be two types of bodily structure, two modes of behavior. Five tomcats in a row on a fence; the appearance of a tabby may be quite as great a stimulus for action as a dog or a rat.

(3) Sterile individuals among vertebrates are abnormal; sexually mature but unmated individuals are deficient either in inherent mate-hunger or mate-attractiveness; neither group his biologic value. The food-hunger impulse must be strong enough or the individual dies; the mate-hunger must be strong enough or the species dies. The species only lives through its individuals. The individual mate-hunger must lead to action or there is no adjustment.

AIMEE IN ACCIDENT

MRS. AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON

Stunned by a blow on the head when her auto skidded off a mud road near Creston, Ia., Saturday night, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, noted evangelist, was forced to cancel an evangelistic meeting scheduled in that town, and return to Des Moines to recuperate. Her head struck a crossbar supporting the top of the auto.

A. E. Science, a street car man wishes to make a correction in connection with the story that John L. Sullivan once knocked a Pittsburgher, Cocky McCoy, kicking with one punch. What actually happened, according to Mr. Science, was a trick played by John L. on the local boy. John L., this version says, had a habit of backing an unwary opponent against the scenery of the stage upon which he was working. Behind the scenery stood John L., the Second, so to speak, who, armed with what the reporters call a blunt instrument, would tap Sullivan's opponent on the knob. At the same time John L. would deliver a harmless left hook to the jaw. The spectators would figure it was the punch they saw which sent the victim down for the long count, whereas all the credit should be written in the ledger of the gentleman with the duster behind the scenes.

JOHN L., even after his barnstorming tours meeting all comers, visited Pittsburgh after he had been defeated by Corbett. He was an actor of parts, playing the lead in "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands," and after that he took to the temperance platform. Of the evils of drink Mr. Sullivan was not entirely in the dark, for the old-time reporters will tell you of how they used to interview John L. to the accompaniment of champagne corks popping. On one or two of his visits here he also turned editor, helping a local paper get out its late sports edition.

One of the big chapters in Mr. Austin's history as a singer was when he sang on the program which also carried that genius, with a Pittsburgh background, Victor Herbert. Mr. Herbert was a cello virtuosi when he was not conducting or composing. Ed recalled how after one number by Herbert a minister said: "That will be the prayer for this occasion."

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait. by Elenore M. EHERIN

Jerry Makes Up Her Mind To Break With Saxon and Goes to Meet Him

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love at first sight with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. In spite of his flirtation with other girls Jerry confesses her love for him, and when he goes abroad to study, promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross, a wealthy suitor. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. Saxon apologizes for his neglect. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. When she gets ready to go home she finds that Saxon has disappeared with Ora.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

NOT this Saxon who cynically told her: "Great little mama, aren't you? Taking care of me already!" Resenting her and brooking no interference. He was a free man yet! And glad to be free. Having his fling. Earning more, spending more. Drinking a little, flirting a little. Scornful of wives and marriage. Never losing the chance to make a quip about it.

It was this crystallization of his attitude that now beat her down—beat her into a still, frozen apathy. No use to go on. From one damaging episode to another till all the tender beauty was vanished. Oh, she wouldn't have a love like that! And it now!

She started walking about the room, her heart bounding madly. Give up this love that for three and a half years was the dream and passion of her life? So much so that only death would free her from it—ever.

She leaned weakly against the bookcases. She thought quietly: "I'll have nothing. Nothing." This shook through her with an appalling desolation.

All her life she would have nothing—arid, empty years. She could scarcely breathe.

Then there came pelting over her the memory of their first months. Then the early days of his return, where her whole being melted to liquid fire at a look from him, at the clasp of his hand, the touch of his lips.

So much so that she longed often to lose herself in his arms; wished the world would vanish, leaving her and Saxon alone, swept together immortally in the rapture of their love.

She had felt a secret scorn for the cowardice that was denying so supreme, so beautiful an emotion. A suicide of the spirit.

"Do whatever you are completely wanting to do. Know yourself—then be it to the thousandth degree, blazingly, daringly, every moment of your existence!"

Marza's way and the right way!

"Oh, why didn't I! Why didn't I!" she now thought darkly, frantically. "I wish I had!"

Fervid images made her heart flush. Oh, once when he held her, the light, thrilling eyes laughing into hers; held her and whispered: "You would have come across the seas to me? You meant that, Jerry?"

"I would fling all to the winds for you—all!" And she had added that thrilled, blasphemous line from Kipling: "I bear witness—I bear witness—there is no God, but YOU!"

She recalled this with a still panic.

"Why didn't I? I wasn't afraid—"

Scenes from the night flashed upon her: Nellie Spears hidden in the arms of Bert Rogers; that couple dancing with fearful slowness in the unlighted alcove; other couples merging in the shadows of the grove—they weren't afraid.

She hid her face in her arms. Not that—not that travesty of all that is sweet and fine and uplifting. Not that shoddy, ephemeral throb of the senses that any butcher's boy can feel.

No! All or nothing! A love high as mountains; enduring as the stars. This was her dream. This only she wanted. Not his hands and his lips. But the fidelity of the spirit—the communion of minds and thoughts and hearts. All and always.

This he had promised. And this was now lost.

But this was incredible and she murmured excitedly: "It's not lost. It can't be lost! Cling on—wait—hope!"

She was wandering about the room now. Suddenly she came to a violent stop: "If I don't make the break today, he will make it tomorrow. Inevitable as the sun coming, this is coming.

* * *

At 11 o'clock Sunday morning Jerry came with a tray to Marza's bed. She always sat here on the edge and they had their chummy, delightful coffee together.

"Wake up, ole thing," she now called in a forced, blithe tone. "What the heck—"

Marza laughed and pulled a bandage from her chin. She said with a shrug: "One of these is enough—and at 41, you know, chins sometimes double up on pretty ladies."

"Why, I didn't think you could be that silly, mother—a thin wisp like you."

"A beautiful woman," said Marza carelessly and now fluffing the dark hair about her temples, "should die at the age of 38. It is dismal to outlive one's usefulness—but tragic to outlive beauty. I've often envied homely women. They never know the defeat and ignominy it is to live on while one's radiance dies upon them."

"Marza!" said Jerry, stooping down and looking into her mother's eyes. She saw a fear in them—a veiled horror. She was shaken by this.

But Marza laughed and went on in a high, mocking tone: "It would be so much more graceful if I and my beauty went out together. What good is a cask when the wine is spilt?"

"To pour more wine and richer—the wine of the spirit. You've plenty of that if you live to be a hundred and eighty."

She adored her mother's face as though it were a treasured possession of her own. She couldn't endure to vision Marza ageing.

All Sunday through her own bleak anguish when she kept waiting for the telephone; wondering what they were doing down there—sitting around the swimming pool and drinking gin fizzes to put them on their feet, perhaps; all this devastating Sunday there crept into her own heartache an image of Marza growing old—a Marza frightened and horror-laden over this.

Monday afternoon as Marza dressed to go out, Jerry said, tremulous: "Oh, look at yourself and dare to say that you were ever lovelier!"

"I've filled up the crow's feet, pet. But beauty is digging its grave subtly, inevitably in my face."

"You're cruel to say that. You're just a beast to say that! There's not a word of truth in you!"

Marza flung back her head and laughed and never seemed more exquisite to Jerry, the curve of her warm lips—the flash of her astonishing teeth.

"Helen had never such a look. Will it to me, ole darling, when you shuffle off the mortal coil at 180!"

"You're a pet," said Marza, kissing her.

The look of her lingered in Jerry's imagination as she sat in the hushed living room—waiting—fearing—wondering.

He came a little after five without phoning.

He looked thin and pale.

Confronted by his hurt, half accusing eyes, she had a wish to fling her arms about him—to shove this cruel, shadowing world that was pushing so forbiddingly between them, aside.

She ran back to her room and stood there summoning her strength. She thought shaking: "Whatever he says will be right! Whatever he says now will be all right. I can't do it—Oh, God, I can't!"

She sat on the bed and folded her arms against the thunder of her heart. She said choking: "I've got to—If I don't today—oh, sure as the sun—he will tomorrow!"

CHAPTER XXXII.

SHE went over to the mirror and adjusted her hat. Then rubbed a faint tinge of color to the creamy olive skin. She was terribly shaken and leaned on the bureau, daubing powder on her nose, twisting the hair into jetty curls about her face; "Why am I doing this?"

Ah—in the wild hope of holding him; drawing him back to the flame-sweet eyes whose soul and heart were his. Let him look in them and yearn for them!

She went with thumping, overcharged heart to the living room where he waited.

"Oh, we're going out," said he springing hastily to his feet, scarcely looking at Jerry.

"Yes. Marza will soon return." She stood hesitant, her head lowered, half expecting him to kiss her.

He didn't. The despair in her spirit grew.

"Let's go over to the park," said he in a quiet, casual tone.

"Oh not—not there."

A dark flush spread over his cheeks. "As bad as all that, is it?"

She shut her eyes, following him mutely. They walked down the steep Hyde street hills to the water.

"There's the Yale going out. Graceful, isn't it?"

Katie's Tale Confirms Madge's Suspicions About the Red-Bearded Neighbor

ALTHOUGH I had already guessed that Dicky's dash from the veranda had been caused by his suspicion that the seeming hoot of the owl was in reality a signal from a human throat, yet it startled me to hear Katie's words confirming my suspicion. I did not attempt to hide my reaction to her news as I might in other circumstances, for my little maid was so patiently enjoying her own narrative, pausing at almost every sentence to watch the effect upon me, that I had not the heart to feign indifferent calm.

"You mean that Mr. Graham was chasing one of the Transvanians through the yard?" I asked.

She nodded her head so emphatically that her bobbed hair lost its sleek part and fell tumbling over her forehead. She put it back with an impatient hand as she answered my question.

"Dot's shoost vot I mean," she said. "He nearly caught heem too. He vood have got heem eef eet hadn't been for oder fellow."

"What other man?" I asked. "Were there two of them in the yard?"

"Not all vun time," Katie rejoined. "Second feller he no mit first vun, but I guess he coming down after first vun, for right by corner of barn, dees side, he almost knock Meester Graham down as he turn corner queeck, und he say somethings like 'Vere away so fast, my cherished vun?' and Meester Graham he stop short und he say sometings about 'your dam fool red friend,' but vy he say det I don't know for de man he talk to vos dot red-beard, red-hair man. De oder vun, de black-hair one, I guess vos man Meester Graham vos chasing, man vot hoot like owl. He coom here dot day mit red-beard. I no see heem since."

There really was no chance to interrupt her, she was talking so fast, and I did not feel the necessity of enlightening her as to any other possible meaning of the adjective 'red' than the one she herself had evolved. With a cowardice for which I scorned myself, I also was willing to postpone a pertinent question or two until she had told me all I wished to know.

"You know," Katie leaned confidentially toward me, "dose fellows moost he awful foony acting Dot red-beard he laf ven Meester Graham call oder man dot name, und he say he sorry but mule got hobbles off ven he not lookin' und smear red herring all ofer map. He ask eef he do any harm, und Meester Graham he say foony like 'Oh, no, only scare our new nighbor into fits mit hees owl hoot, dot all," und oder man say, 'Vell I see he practice hees music only in our own front yard after dees,' und den day valk nearer me und I scared dey stumble ofer me, und I hurry back to porch und no hear any more. But ven, two meenits later, Meester Graham coom in side porch und go oop back vay to hees room den coom down again. I guess he change hees pants und white shoes for grass all vet mit dew. Den he go out on front porch und after four, five meenits I go get you, for you say vunce you vant me tell you eferyting I find out by dose Transvanian mens."

She had spiked my guns most effectually by this reference to the admonition I had given her. I knew only too well—for she herself had inadvertently betrayed it—the eavesdropping she had just practiced. Shoeless she had stolen out after Dicky and listened to his conversation with the red-bearded man. But under the circumstances there was but one thing to do and I did it.

"Thank you, Katie," I said, carefully avoiding any question concerning the source of her information which would involve an embarrassing answer. "Always tell me when you see those men, unless," I looked at her steadily, "Mr. Graham is talking to them. It was all right this time for you to come to me, but when he is at home, it will be best to let him attend to them himself."

TELEPATHY USED IN CARD TRICK

By HARDEEN.

I regret that this is to be my final story. I have but one ambition in this last story and that is to make it about the biggest and best trick of all.

HARDEEN.

This trick we call "long distance telepathy." It is one that I have for many years used with success and will for the first time devulge to readers of The Sun-Telegraph. Here's the effect of the "long distance telepathy" novelty: Performer requests one of the audience to select a card mentally and write the name in the performer's note book. The performer's assistant is then called upon the phone and asked to name the selected card, which she does without hesitation.

The secret: When the card is selected and its name written in your notebook, take note of the card. Go to the telephone and call your assistant. Ask her to whom she wishes to give her answer. To you your assistant says nothing. But you pretend to listen. Then if the king of diamonds has been chosen you say: "Nettie, you are wanted on the phone." When Nettie arrives the assistant has received the cue through the name and tells her that the king of diamonds is the card.

Before you leave for the party, get a list of 52 of the guests, and arrange them to correspond with the names of the cards. Prepare this list, chartwise, in duplicate, leaving one with your assistant. When the card is chosen, simply call the guest whose name corresponds with the name of the chosen card.

Discover "City of Gold" in Peru

LIMA, Peru, March 26.—(AP.)—A city said to date back thousands of years and containing frame houses which from a distance give the appearance of glittering gold, has been discovered at a locality named Huayabamba, in the midst of a Peruvian mountain, El Tiempo says it has been informed by a prominent member of the British Museum of London. Explorations will be initiated.

AUTO CRASHES KILL 2

Two men were killed in automobile accidents late yesterday, one in East End and the other in Neville township.

Ralph Delliggi, 19, of 6610 Rowan street, was injured fatally last night when struck by a car on the Larimer avenue bridge. He was pronounced dead at Pittsburgh Hospital. Roy F. Snyder, 6161 Kincaid street, driver, was turned over to the coroner.

Frank A. Obernietz, 30, of 1252 Reedsdale street, was killed in Grand avenue, Neville Island, when a car in which he was riding sideswiped another automobile and turned over. William Valentine, of 1256 Franklin street, driver, with Obernietz, suffered severe cuts and bruises. He was held for the coroner. J. H. Armstrong, of Island avenue, McKees Rocks, driver of the other machine, was ordered to report to the coroner.

PRISONER GOES TO FUNERAL

E. F. McConnell, 32, of Second avenue, Hazelwood, was released from the Allegheny county jail for five hours today, in the custody of a deputy sheriff, to attend the funeral of his father, R. C. McConnell, 212 Hazelwood avenue, who died Friday. McConnell is awaiting grand jury action on a misdemeanor charge, growing out of a violation of the automobile laws. The petition asking for permission to allow the temporary release was presented to Judge Joseph M. Swearingen by Attorney Jacob Shulgold, representing A. R. McConnell, a brother of the prisoner. The court order releasing the man stipulated that he was to be returned to the jail at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

FIREMEN SAVES BOY AFIRE

Overtaking Brownie Zebroski, 12, of 7 Oak alley, Carnegie, when he saw the boy running in East Main street, Carnegie, with his clothing afire, Fireman Samuel Mandola beat out the flames and saved the boy from serious injury late yesterday.

The boy had tossed a match into a pool of gasoline in the street and the flames ignited his clothing. Mandola was burned on the hands and he also suffered a bruised leg when he tackled the boy.

SLAYER'S JAIL TERM UP WHEN SENTENCED

James Culberson, 28, Negro, 140 Winslow street, pleaded guilty to a charge of murder before Judge Miles I. Potter visiting judge from Snyder county in Criminal Court today. After hearing testimony, the court fixed the degree as voluntary manslaughter, and sentenced Culberson to from three to six months in jail, the sentence to predate from December 23, last. Culberson and his brother, Arthur Culberson, 24, of the same address, were charged with the murder of Edgar Johnson, 26, Negro, of 732 Chianti street, who died in the Pittsburgh Hospital, December 23, from lockjaw induced, it was alleged, by an injury received December 16, last, when he was struck in the face by a brick thrown by one of the Culbersons.

FATHER ON TRIAL IN KILLING OF INFANT

WESTON, W. Va., March 26.—Accused of slaying his own one-day-old infant, Earl Marsh, 35, was placed on trial for his life in the Circuit Court here today. His wife charges he struck the child twice, in July, 1922, causing its death a few hours later. He is also accused of attacking a girl under 16, conviction of which carries the death penalty.

NO CHILDREN KILLED HERE IN MONTH

A month without a child traffic fatality is the enviable record established in Pittsburgh during the month of February, according to statistics of Coroner W. J. McGregor, released Sunday by the Better Traffic Committee. According to the Coroner's records, the first two months of the new year portend a saving in child fatalities, if the ratio is kept up, for in the first 49 days of 1928 only one child under 15 years of age has been killed in a traffic accident.

Coroner McGregor's compilation of information on accident fatalities also shows a reduction of 14.7 per cent in traffic deaths of all ages over the corresponding period of last year. There have been but 29 fatalities from this cause, 15 in January and 14 in February, as against 34 in the first two months of 1927. Of the 29, 23 were struck by motor vehicles, 12 of such accidents taking place between street intersections.

ONE IN TWO MONTHS

The remarkable record of but one child fatality in two months is attributed in large measure to the work of education being constantly carried on by the three agencies primarily interested in this work—the Board of Public Education, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and the Better Traffic Committee.

Aim To Live 100

An Easy System To Follow For People Half Dead Around the Age of 40.

We only begin to think of our health when the human machine staggers and falters under a load of disease.

Millions of people who suffer needlessly from constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, liver, kidney and impure blood ailments should follow this proven advice: Go to your druggist, ask him for a box of the famous Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea. Here is what the tea is guaranteed to do for you. It will remove the toxic poisons from the bowels, stimulate and tone the liver, flush and cleanse the kidneys, kill off stomach gases, improve and enrich the blood—thereby putting your entire system in a first class healthy condition.

Begin right now to purify your system. Put back power and health into your blood. Take a cupful of the rich vitalizing juices of these precious herbs at least once each week. No cheating. Remember, once a week regular, that's the system. In a very short time you will begin to feel like a new person.

Further, just to break up a cold quickly and avoid "Flu" or pneumonia, Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea is worth ten times its small cost. Remember, see your druggist at once. Don't put it off.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator from New York

Face Beaming With Health Better Than a Pretty One

THIS is the last of a series of six articles on the dangerous fads and practices which threaten the happiness and physical welfare of our women folk. I hope they have been read and pondered by all concerned. I pray they may be accepted in the spirit they have been written.

DR. COPELAND

To me the human body is something more precious than the most priceless of gorgeous vases or other handiwork of a great artist. The Supreme Artist planned and perfected the human body. When cared for as it should be, nothing can be more beautiful or more appealing.

Pride, that terrible master of men's souls, causeth many a person to suffer pain and to endure agonizing experiences. For what? To have some part of the body attacked with knife and saw, in order that an offending feature may be remodeled.

Starvation diet, abnormal exercises, cruel practices are resorted to for the purpose of overcoming natural tendencies. No sacrifice is too great to make for the sake of slenderness and the "boyish form."

The terrible fate of that Chicago girl should be a warning to every discontented person. Women should consider very soberly the dangers involved in operations for "improving beauty."

My appeal to the women of North America is that they devote themselves to acquiring and preserving health. There is no doubt that the clear skin, the sparkling eyes and elastic muscles of well groomed and animated women mean more, far more, than perfection of individual features.

It is the ensemble that counts. It is the combination, then union of all the features, the general impression—this is what really matters.

I am confident there is a painful lack of knowledge regarding foods, food combinations, the simplest rules of hygiene. More than this, there is an almost sinful disinclination to do the things necessary to have glowing health.

One of the greatest reasons for teaching personal hygiene to children is because habits formed in early life will be practiced forever. When the right way of living is a fixed practice, then there is no trouble about having good health. Health is actually a habit, under such conditions.

It is the duty of each of us to learn how to live, how to eat, what to eat, what not to eat. We should know how much water to drink, how many hours to sleep and how much exercise to take.

Knowing these things we should apply them religiously. Then we will have glorious health. With such health will be the beaming countenance and sparkling eyes that mean far more than absolute perfection of form and feature.

Go to your doctor, not to make an appointment for a beauty operation, but for the purpose of finding out if all your organs are functioning properly. Make sure you are in prime condition and find out what you should do to stay so.

The most magnetic and appealing and winsome woman is the one with flaming health. She will win everything she desires.

Answers to Health Queries

H. Z. Q.—What can be done for pain in the shoulder-blade, which when it reaches the elbow, causes the muscles to pain?

A.—Very likely due to neuritis. Application of heat should give increased comfort until the source of the trouble has been determined. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. J. F. Q.—What is the cause of shingles?

A.—Some kind of body poison is responsible for the trouble as a rule, but the exact cause is uncertain. You should have a thorough examination and follow your doctor's advice as to treatment.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, U. S. Senator from New York and Ex-Health Commissioner of New York City, is a recognized national authority on public health.

Dr. Copeland Says:

"Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many cathartic compounds. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. In their effects upon the bowel and its lining membranes they are far less irritating. Indeed, many have qualities that make them soothing and healing. Sugar-coated pills are pleasant to take, which may add to their danger. They are no less habit-forming and drastic because they appeal to the taste."

Pluto Water, with its mineral content, flushes the bowels and washes away impurities. It is gentle, soothing, healing, non-habit-forming. Corrects constipation and restores normal bowel movements. Acts in 30 minutes to 2 hours.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, silky, and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Fay King Gives Girls Some Sage Love Advice

By FAY KING

A VERY pretty girl who had many important admirers, married a rather stupid man and surprised her friends.

"How did you ever happen to pick on him?" one asked. The bride, more honest than some people, frankly said that she had married him because he was the only one who had asked her!

Sometimes these girls who are so rushed are not taken as seriously by their admirers as one would think.

And so it seems to me much better to be truly loved by one good man who is sincere than partied and petted by many who are not really serious.

Some girls are greatly fascinated by well-dressed young men with polished nails who show them good times in smart places. But it is a wiser girl who appreciates a young man who wears his working clothes well and puts more in the bank than he does on his back!

Some of these girls would be very much surprised to see these well-dressed fellows living in shabby back rooms and putting those immaculate creases in their trousers with a flatiron themselves!

They would also be surprised to see how stunning some of these working fellows can look when they are dressed up!

A good tailor can soon turn a fellow out looking like the dress suit dandies in a haberdasher's advertisement, but all the tailors in the world cannot put the spirit of work in a man's soul.

The fellow who is willing to work and work hard and don't care how he looks in his working clothes, will make good in the world. But the fellow who likes to pose around all dolled up will often let his wife work and pay the rent!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

ASK HIM ANOTHER

WHY do lovers waste so much of their courtship in asking each other futile and foolish questions?

* * *

"Do you love me? WHY do you love me? Do you love me as much as ever?"

* * *

Ringing the changes on these is merely a pleasant way of killing time and feeding your vanity; whereas, there are a hundred vital questions, which you might be asking, with real profit. Why not put some of the following up to each other, for instance?

HELEN ROWLAND

Do you use keen analytical judgment or just plain brute force, in squeezing the tooth-paste?

How long does it take you to dress? To find your shoes? To assemble your face?

* * *

Do you eat crackers in bed?

Are you a humane being or a bathroom-monopolist? Do you HAVE to sing with your shower-bath?

Do you prefer the piano or the potted fern as a receptacle for burning cigaret stubs? Have you a passion for throwing lighted matches in the waste-paper basket?

* * *

Do you eat your eggs in a carefree way, or have you a one-track mind on the egg question?

* * *

Does one cocktail make you feel like a silver-tongued orator, or does it just put you to sleep after dinner?

* * *

Does the sight of food arouse your fighting spirit? Do you regard the dinner gong as a call to arms—or prefer breakfast as the scrapping-hour?

* * *

What is your personal feeling in regard to a lawnmower? A vacuum cleaner? A washing-machine? Onions? Peppermints? Or have you only an academic interest in such things?

* * *

Do you regard a can opener as the most vital cooking utensil? Can you open a milk-bottle without starting a flood? Have you any bump of location when it comes to finding your own things? Who, in your opinion, has the divine right to the morning newspaper? Do you believe that a wife should be her husband's keeper, his guardian, his valet, or his yes-woman? Are you in favor of the companionate marriage or the strangle-hold variety?

* * *

All these are leading questions, the answers to which might help you to a safe and sane understanding of the Boy Friend or the Girl Friend—providing they did not cure you of the marrying-fever, forever.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, March 27

A horoscope accords with the most simple science as well as the most profound mathematics.—WILLIS WHITEHEAD.

A DAY of excellent initiative and adventure is forecast by the major astral activities, with leanings toward new projects and aggressive ways of promoting them.

Still a powerful obstructing and frustrating force is to be reckoned with, owing to the opposing force of Saturn, the orb of delays and obstacles. The indomitable spirit of Mars, in trine with Luna, should give the resolution, courage and power to offset this hostility.

Those whose birthday it is will have a year to test their mettle and courage, as new opportunities and large projects will be present but accompanied by tenacious obstacles. Courage, inner urge and resolution should win.

A child born on this day should have splendid energy, initiative and courage, which it may need to surmount many difficult situations in life. It may also be given spiritual aid to overcome obstacles.

Notable Nativity: Gloria Swanson, movie actress.

Broken-Hearted Blonde

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl of 18 and read your column regularly and find it very interesting, and I wish you to advise me. About a year ago I met a boy my own age and we have gone steadily together for almost a year. A week ago he made a date and failed to keep it. I have seen him four times since and he merely speaks to me and has given no explanation. The whole time he was going with me his manner toward me was serious. Now, Miss Gale, I have gone with a number of other fellows before and after I met him, and I really do believe I am in love with him. Please tell me how to regain his friendship and love.

A BROKEN-HEARTED BLONDE.

Since you have known him so long, why not ask him for an explanation of his conduct. Perhaps he is angry over something you have said or done.

Patient Betty

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a constant reader of your column and think your advice wonderful. I had gone with a fellow for almost a year when he suddenly stopped coming to see me. I often asked him his reason, but he would change the subject. I heard that his father did not think I had a good reputation and influenced him against me. But his estimation was not true, as I agree with you on the drinking, smoking and petting questions. This certain young man knew his father had heard false stories, but nevertheless he believed him. I think he really doubted his father's word. He always warned me against the girls I had been going with, as he did not think them good company. I realized, after experiences, that he had been right in his estimation of these girls. I changed girl friends and he has acted more friendly, but he will not come down to see me. The other night I had a date. When he was leaving this fellow with whom I had the date wished to kiss me good night. I informed him that Betty's boy friends did not kiss her good night. After that he told his boy friends that he thought I was a wonderful girl. Miss Gale, I love this other fellow. How could I convince him of the falseness of his father's statement? I know he still loves me, as he has told his closest boy friend. Please advise me and tell me what I can do to win him back. Wishing you loads of luck and success,

PATIENT BETTY.

If this boy could be turned against you so easily, his love is not worth much. I am glad he influenced you against these girls, however.

The Questionnaire

DEAR MISS GALE:

Do you think a fellow really loves a girl if he sees her at least 3 times a week, is a gentleman in every sense of the word and she thinks the world of him? Why do you not approve of kissing between two persons that really love each other? Do you think six years is too long to wait for a fellow; as financial difficulties are his only reason? Does a fellow really know his own mind at the age of 20? Is 18 too young to be in love? Dear Miss Gale, if a boy loves at 20 do you think it will last until they are suited to marry? Or do you think it merely infatuation?

He surely must think a great deal of her. I disapprove of promiscuous kissing among those who are not engaged. Six years is a long time, but it surely gives ample opportunity to know one's mind. A boy of 20 and a girl of 18 may be really in love, but they are both too young to be sure of it, and consequently too young to marry.

Undecided

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am 17 years of age and have been going with a fellow two years my senior, for a year. I like skating but he doesn't and he doesn't like anybody to take me and he knows I won't go skating unless a boy takes me. I am not going to give up my good times just for him, would you? He has a ring that belong to me. What would you advise me to do, ask him for my ring and discontinue going with him or just keep right on going with him? UNDECIDED.

It would be very foolish for you to give up such a healthful exercise as skating for such a poor reason. Don't let this boy dictate to you my dear. Ask him to return the ring.

Stiff and Achy After Grip?

Colds and Chills Are the Cause of Many Functional Kidney Disorders

ARE you getting over a cold or grip only to find yourself feeling always lame and stiff—tired and achy? Are you bothered with nagging backache, drowsy headache and dizziness? Are the kidney secretions too frequent, scanty or burning in passage? Then you should give some thought to your kidneys!

Winter's colds and chills place extra burdens on the kidneys. If their action becomes sluggish, they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes.

Such impurities make one dull, tired and achy with often a nagging backache, headache and dizziness. A common symptom of imperfect kidney action is too frequent, scanty or burning secretions.

If you have reason to believe your kidneys are acting sluggishly, assist them with Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic. Doan's increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. HOLD TEMPLE EXERCISES

Preceded by a parade through the Hill district, the cornerstone of the new Pythian Temple, Center avenue, near Dinwiddie street, was laid yesterday afternoon. James F. Malone, president of City Council, was the principal speaker at the ceremonies that preceded the laying of the stone.

The new temple is being built by the Negro Pythians of Pennsylvania at a cost of approximately $250,000. It contains two storerooms, auditorium, gymnasium and several lodge rooms.

The Criptus Attucks Post No. 30, American Legion, the Negro Elks and Masons, and the uniformed rank of the Negro Pythians were in the line of march which started at Kirkpatrick street and Wylie avenue and moved along Wylie avenue to Herron and thence along Center avenue to the Tabernacle. Speakers included B. G. Collier, grand chancellor Pythians; Mrs. Edna L. Stewart, grand worthy councilor of the Court of Calanthe, and Burton Rose. Attorney Frank R. Stewart and Johnson Burke were masters of ceremonies. The stone was laid by District Deputy Samuel A. Jennings.

GREEK SOCIETY HOLDS DINNER

A. Anninos, councilor of the Greek embassy, was the principal speaker at the third annual banquet of the Grand Lodge of the Greek-American Progressive Association of the United States, held last night in the William Penn Hotel. A musical program followed the banquet.

Others who spoke were James M. Malone, president of City Council; Mme. Eva Sikelianes, lecturer on ancient Greek music and drama; C. D. Diamantropoulos, grand president of the association; George Fragoudis, of Athens, a newspaper man who is in this country in behalf of the new Athens University; John Anastasopulos, of New York, director of the National Bank of Greece, and Dr. Henry S. Scribbner, professor of Greek at the University of Pittsburgh.

PITT CO-EDS WIN NICARAGUAN DEBATE

The United States should continue to protect by armed force the investments of its citizens in Nicaragua and other foreign countries, the Pitt co-ed debaters convinced a dinner audience at Congress of Women's Clubs Saturday. Oberlin co-eds lost the decision.

KANSAS CITY, March 26.—(AP.)—New leaders appeared in all four events in American Bowling Congress competition here over the week-end.

Few of the scores high enough to rank in the money class were considered as "upsets." Virtualy all of the new marks were made by tournament veterans who were "right" when they took over the alleys seasoned by three weeks of steady rolling.

Joe Hradek and Hank Will of Cicero, Ill., furnished the feature of yesterday's session when they shot 1,483 to head the doubles column. It was the scond highest two-men mark ever rolled in A. B. C. competition, and displaced Matek and Wolsieffer, St. Paul southpaws, who held the lead for a week with 1,347. The all-time congress record of 1,380 was established in 1924 by H. Thoma and C. Thoma of Chicago.

Singles, doubles and all-events marks were due for another siege today with crack middlewestern entries shooting. While few had hopes of equaling the all-event record of 2,919, made by W. J. Knox of Philadelphia in 1923, some of the singles stars had as their goal the 749 shot by H. E. Smyers of Pittsburgh in 1923.

Matthew McClure, of East Liberty, one of the leading local 18.2 balkline players, left last night for Chicago, where he will compete in the national championship tourney of the Amateur Billiard Association of America, opening today. This association, at loggerheads with the National Amateur Billiard Association, which up to this year has staged championship tourneys, has obtained the entries of such veteran amateurs as Percy Collins, of the Illinois A. C., Herbert Hammer and other simonpure balklners. The other association, in the ranks of which Johnny Clinton, of the P. A. A., was for several years supreme, did not hold an 18.2 tourney this year.

Robert Carter, of Kalmer's, who is in second place and making a valiant battle to dislodge William Greenwood, of Ellis', from the top-notch in the Pittsburgh Three-Cushion Billiard League, has an opportunity to cut down Billy's lead tonight when he meets E. Z. Wainwright, of Rudy's, on the latter's table.

BRIDGEVILLE OWLS WIN JUNIOR SOCCER CROWN

BIG TRAIN BETTER

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 26.—Walter Johnson, manager of the Newark Bears, will be back on the mound before the end of May. A specialist, who took care of Walter in his recent illness, announced that he had regained his normal temperature and would be ready to start light training soon.

Top Thistles By 3-0 Score

By TOM BIRKS.

BRIDGEVILLE OWLS won the West Penn junior soccer title yesterday at Gallatin when they defeated the Donora Thistles by a 3 goals to 0 score, with one of the largest crowds of the season on hand. This was the big event of the day on the local soccer card.

Two frays were staged in the American League, Heidelberg playing its last game before invading St. Louis, defeated the Pittsburgh Soccer Club by a 4-2 score. The Corinthians met Harmarville at Curry Field and won a one-sided game by a 5 to 2 score.

Braddock piled up the greatest score of the season in the International League by setting the Douglas A. C. down by a 10 goals to 2 score.

The United's forward line were in great form and certain did have its shooting boots. But this was about the first time this season that the Yest grounds have been in any kind of shape.

The junior final was one of the fastest junior games of the season. Bridgeville had the edge on the upriver club and pressed home that advantage. Nothing was scored at half time, and the first goal came through a penalty kick, Granda converting.

The second goal was the result of a corner kick, which was beautifully placed and headed through by Zinger. The final goal of the game was scored by Chichi just before the finish, and from that on the Owls were content to hold their lead.

They certainly have the Olympic fever in St. Louis and there is sure to be a large crowd on hand when Heidelberg arrives next Sunday.

The St. Louis all-star outfit, primed for that trip to Europe, had a tough time beating Chicago yesterday in St. Louis, the Mound City club winning by a 2-1 score, indicating that the St. Louisans have at least a good defense. Now that Chicago is eliminated there is nothing to stop that Western Pennsylvania trip next Sunday to the Mound City.

Nothing has been heard officially from the Mound City soccer officials regarding that game, and it appears to many soccer critics that someone was sitting on the fence awaiting the result of Sunday's game with Chicago. Had Chicago triumphed in the game it is possible that the game with St. Louis would have been called off.

President Fairfield has called a special meeting of the West Penn Football Association for tomorrow night and all details for the St. Louis trip will be worked out, together with the recent decision from the national association appeals committee regarding the Celtics case.

TIA JUANA, Mex., March 26.—Handy Mandy, 8 7 to 10 favorite in the betting, finished first in the Tia Juana Cup, feature race of the program at this track yesterday.

Showing a brilliant burst of speed in the stretch, for which she is noted, Handy Mandy overtook the fast Woolridge and won by a length. Woolridge grabbed second money and Grippeminaud third.

Two dollar mutuel tickets on the winner paid $3.60 to win, $3 to place and $2.40 to show. Woolridge's prices were $3 and $2.40, Grippeminaud's, $2.40.

BANQUET FOR CHAMPS

Father Huber, director at St. Joseph's Protectory, will banquet his champion Pioneer Lyceum League team in the Protectory next Sunday evening.

IN THE TRAINING CAMPS

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 26.—(AP.)—Ty Cobb has left the Athletics' training camp here for his home in Augusta, Ga., because of the illness of his wife. He may not be able to rejoin the team until it reaches Philadelphia.

"Ty said it might be necessary for his wife to undergo an operation," said Manager Connie Mack. "He has progressed fine in spring training and will rejoin us at the earliest possible time."

The Athletics first team was back in camp today after a four-day tour of Northern Florida, during which it lost 3 and won 1 game.

TIGERS DROP SEVEN

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 26.—(AP.)—Seven Detroit Tiger recruits including two outfielders, two infielders and three pitchers, have been released by Manager George Moriarty, four outright and three by the option route.

Nolan Richardson, infielder, goes to Ft. Worth, Charley Wade, outfielder, to Evansville, and Teachout, pitcher, to Seattle, all under option.

Those released outright were Frank Emmer, infielder, to Minneapolis; Jack Irwin and Carl Hubbell, pitchers, to Ft. Smith and Beaumont, and Dutch Holland, outfielder, to Ft. Worth.

RUTH, GEHRIG DISAPPOINT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP.)—With only a few days left before the Yankees pull up stakes at their training camp here, fans still awaited the thrill of seeing the home run twins deliver one of their famous wallops.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig came ahead of schedule this spring to get an early start on the campaign, but in six exhibitions to date, the heavy sluggers have failed to crash for the circuit.

Columbia Lou is determined to bang a long one for the townsfolk before the caravan heads for Jacksonville on Friday. The Bambino is not worried over his clouting activities which have been hampered by a blistered hand.

INDIANS STRIKE STRIDE

CLEVELAND, March 26.—(AP.)—The Cleveland Indians have much to enthuse over at their New Orleans stronghold despite shortstop Joe Sewell's bruised knee.

The tribe, apparently having found their batting eyes, continued their assault on the New Orleans' pitchers yesterday and pounded out a 10 to 3 triumph. Shortstop Sewell, who was carried from the field in the eighth with an injured knee, and Johnny Hodapp, third baseman, had perfect days at bat. Emil Levsen looked like himself again in three innings of mound duty.

REDS START HOME

ORLANDO, Fla., March 26.—(AP.)—The Cincinnati Reds after a four weeks' stay at their training camp were on the homeward trek today. The players without exception are in good physical condition and in ambitious spirits.

Their first scheduled stop was at Plant City to play Indianapolis of the American Association today.

WASH-JEFF TO LOSE AMOS' "SUCCESSOR"

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 26.—R. J. Mitchell, of Columbus, O., for two years fullback and halfback and counted upon to fill the shoes of Bill Amos next season, will be lost to the Washington and Jefferson football team next fall. Mitchell, who has another year of competition, has progressed with his studies to such a point that he will be able by carrying a heavy schedule for the remainder of the year to graduate in June. News of Mitchell's departure following closely on announcement that John H. Castilow, of Moundsville, W. Va., guard, and J. Denny May, of Wheeling, W. Va., halfback, had attained sufficient scholastic standing to complete their work at the next commencement, adds to the gloomy picture which confronts the Presidents for next season.

D. AND E. TO SUPPORT VARSITY NET TEAM

ELKINS, W. Va., March 26.—Davis and Elkins College will support a tennis team again this spring, according to official announcement. Geneva College of Beaver Falls, Pa., will send its team here for a match on May 4, and Davis and Elkins will play at Beaver Falls a week later. This will probably be the only out-of-state opponent for the team.

OSCEOLA MEETS DAIRY

Osceola, first-half winner, and the Dairy Cottage team, second-half winner in the City League will play the second of their three-game series to decide the championship tonight on the Stowe Junior High School.

ITALIANS WIN

C., 125 pounds; J. Sandusky, North Side, vs. Billy Ortlieb, unattached, 147 pounds; Stanley Cetnarowski, Monessen, vs. Tom Maico, Pittsburgh Lyceum, 160 pounds, and H. Turner, Superior A. C., vs. F. Carlo, McKeesport A. C., heavyweight.

WALT'S SISTER DIES

COFFEYVILLE, KAN., March 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. John M. Burke, 27, a sister of Walter Johnson, the baseball pitcher, died at her home here today.

DETROIT FANS WAIT ALL NIGHT FOR PASTEBOARDS

DETROIT, March 26.—(INS.)—Shivering under a blanket of March rain, a band of loyal baseball fans besieged the box office at Navin Field last night and early today to buy tickets for the opening game with St. Louis, April 11.

Although the office did not open until 8 o'clock, there was an ever growing line throughout the night.

ANSWER TO QUERY

The official score of the recent Cycler All-Star-Braddock American Legion game, staged in Braddock, was 47 to 44 with McKeesport on the long end.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Jack Dempsey's eyesight was reported to be failing some weeks back. It is now learned that the only thing Jack can't see is the amount Tex Rickard has offered him for a third bout with Tunney. A squabble over his guarantee is said to be the only reason for Dempsey's recent announcement that he has quit the ring.

Rickard has offered Dempsey $250,000 for a third bout with the champion. Dempsey feels that he,

Odie Cleghorn.

THOUGH their own employers here and the league itself are not showing any more appreciation of the fine finish made by the Pittsburgh hockey players than to make them stage their play-off games on the ice of their opponents, instead of giving them a 50-50 share at home, the fans of the district are justly proud of Odie Cleghorn and his colts.

It isn't often that a hockey team, after making such a poor start as to fail to get a victory out of its first 11 games, has the gameness, the spirit, the determination and the ability to turn in an uphill fight that lands it in a money position at the end of the season.

THAT'S the achievement which the Pirates placed to their credit when they climaxed their sensational drive with a 4-to-2 victory over the Rangers in the final game of the regular schedule last Saturday night, and too much cannot be said in praise of the players and their manager for their remarkable finish in the face of an unfavorable schedule.

A team that does that must be constructed of the real stuff, and under fair conditions might continue on to at least a divisional championship.

The odds are against the Pirates, however, because of the manner in which they are being treated by the local franchise owners and the league in the chase for the dollar.

IF THEY were privileged to play one of their games with the Rangers on their own ice here, as they ought to be, their score of 4 to 2 against that team Saturday night indicates that they might win the right to play Boston in the divisional finals.

But inasmuch as they are being forced to play both games with the Rangers in the latter's home rink, and Pittsburgh is being ignored as if it were only a minor league town instead of the pioneer hockey city in America, their chances do not appear overly bright.

WINNERS in each division of the hockey play-offs will receive 20 per cent of the play-off gate, second teams 17 per cent and third teams 13 per cent.

GRANTS, N. M., March 26.—C. C. Pyle's bunion derbyists jogged through the Laguna Indian country toward their twenty-third control at old Laguna Pueblo, 34 miles from Grants, today.

Cubero, a bit of old Spain, with its quaint streets and dingy adobe homes, at the foot of Mt. Taylor, 11,388 feet high and covered with millions of feet of pine timber, was midway on the route, and here the caravan lunch cars refreshed the runners and walkers.

Yesterday's trek from Thoreau to Grants, 30.5 miles, was one of the most strategic of the 772 miles from Los Angeles, as 12 miles of the jaunt were through detours in the sage-strewn desert.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, jogged at a grilling pace yesterday when he averaged almost eight miles an hour over the lava bed route.

Arne Souminen, Detroit medico, trotting in second, held first place in the grind, while Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., was third to retain that place in the elapsed standings.

Eastern pedestrians for the 772.1 miles from Los Angeles to Grants rank as follows:

Olli Wanttinen, New York; Fred Kamier, Miami Fla.; John Salo, Passaic N. J.; Harry Abramowitz, New York; Louis Perella, Albany, N. Y., Earl Dilks, New Castle, Pa.

DUNDEE SEEKS KAYO

"I WON'T be satisfied with anything less than a knockout victory."

That's what Mike Dundee, Rock Island featherweight, who boxes U. S. Carpentier of New Kensington in the main bout of the card of four eight-rounders at Motor Square Garden tonight, said as he concluded his training with a light workout yesterday.

Dundee is known principally as a dangerous puncher, especially in the early rounds.

Carpentier is confident he will prove so much a superior boxer than the invader that he never will be in danger. When Dundee's final words were conveyed to him, he replied:

"I've heard that sort of talk before. He can't knock me out with threats. He'll have to do it with punches, and I'll let him worry about landing them."

IF THE baseball fan is keyed up for the coming of a new season, if the golfer is breaking chandeliers practicing at home for a new campaign, if the track and field stars are all worked up over the Olympic events of the approaching season, none of them has anything on the reactions of the local chess enthusiasts at this time.

And all because the annual Western Pennsylvania championship tournament, which is scheduled to get under way in the rooms of the Pittsburgh Chess Club, 201 Apollo building, next Saturday, promises to be the most keenly contested competition that staid old organization has known in a quarter of a century.

A NEW threat looms on the horizon in the presence among the entries of a young German engineer employed at the Westinghouse Company, who recently defeated Paul Bowers, the present champion, in a match at the Westinghouse Club and has not been beaten since he began playing around here. His name is William Schettler and he is 27 years old and came to Pittsburgh from Germany only a little more than a year ago.

As if the addition of Schettler to the list of competitors were not enough, there is an added feature to the tournament in the fact that Champion Bowers last year broke the 14-year reign of his immediate predecessor, one Howard L. Dolde, and the latter will be on hand to essay a "comeback."

ON THE whole, it looks like a rousing tournament, one which, but for the quiet character of the game, could be ballyhooed into a real box office thriller. They'd better keep Milt Crandall and Tex Rickard away from there, or the almighty dollar will begin to cut a figure in the game of the kings.

I AM indebted to S. Howard Wood, secretary of the Pittsburgh Chess Club, and an ardent player himself, for the sport's fine history here. Here it is, just as he wrote it for me:

"In the early '90s, a coterie of chess enthusiasts would meet in a small room in the Lewis block, at Sixth avenue and Smithfield street. Among the players were Mr. Benjamin Lutton, Judge Gibson and Mr. James Reed, who at that time was checker champion of the United States. One day there entered a tall, slender youth who took a keen interest in the games being played. He was Mr. Howard L. Dolde, who later, for 14 years, was to be chess champion of Western Pennsylvania and known among chess players of the world as an able editor of chess columns appearing in the Pittsburgh newspapers.

H. L. Dolde.

"But for Mr. Dolde, the Pittsburgh Chess Club perhaps would not be in existence now. The club was practically broken up when it was forced to leave its quarters in the Lewis block because of the tearing down of the building. One of the players stored what paraphernalia the club possessed in his home until such a time as Mr. Dolde and the late Mr. W. F. Short got together and rented new quarters in the Renshaw building. Under Mr. Dolde's care the club grew anew and prospered.

"MR. LUTTON was conceded by all to be the Western Pennsylvania chess champion until 1912, when he resigned the title. A tournament was held to determine his successor and Mr. Kalman Erdeky was the winner. In 1913, Mr. Dolde challenged Mr. Erdeky and they were matched for a best-of-seven games match series and Mr. Dolde won the championship by winning the first four games straight. He held the championship for 14 years until, finally, late in 1926, he had to yield his crown to the superior playing of the present champion, Mr. Paul F. Bowers.

"Mr. Dolde has entered his name in the tournament to be held at the Pittsburgh Chess Club beginning next Saturday to determine the champion for the current year and many of his friends predict that the former longtime ruler will regain his laurels."

FINE thing, this complicated, dignified game of chess. They even refer to one another as Mr. So and So. That's more than we can say about most of our sports.

A BASKETBALL game which will directly interest not less than 27,000 persons is scheduled for tomorrow night in the South Side Market House.

The battle will be between Duquesne Light, winner of the Commercial and Industrial League championship last season and also winner of the first half of the split season this year, and P. & L. E., winner of the second half honors, and will be the first of a series for the 1928 title.

The P. & L. E. Railroad has some 15,000 employes and Duquesne Light 12,000. Pep meetings have been held with a view to having the two sides outdo each other in demonstrations of enthusiasm, and arrangements have been completed to have the P. & L. E. orchestra of 23 pieces on hand to enliven the occasion. A preliminary game will be played between the Falk Memorial team and the Alumni Club of McKeesport to determine the second half winner of Kaufmann's Major League.

THE Commercial and Industrial League has been a singularly successful one in the two years it has been functioning. Only bona fide employes of the concerns that make up the membership are eligible to play and some of the stars in the local basketball ranks represent their organizations. The teams are financed by the companies, and are sponsored with the idea of promoting athletic interest among employes. There is no "loading up" of teams and a fine spirit of cooperation has marked the life of the circuit.

J. J. Freund, Jr., is president; R. J. Mackey of the Carnegie Steel Company, vice president; C. A. Price of the Reliance Life Insurance Company, treasurer, and K. F. McNutt of the Philadelphia Company, secretary.

In Graeco-Roman also tripping constitutes a foul, but in the catch-as-catch-can code tripping is not mentioned.

In other respects catch-as-catch-can rules govern Graeco-Roman contests.

Zbyszko has not been doing much in the Graeco-Roman line, as in this country catch-as-catch-can is the kind chiefly "committed."

DAVE MORROW'S resignation as line football coach at Washington and Jefferson College removes from the college gridiron sport in Western Pennsylvania one of its most popular figures. It won't seem like the same old pastime around here with Dave missing.

Dave Morrow

As a line and defense coach, Morrow had few equals. W. & J.'s always strong defense being due to his tutoring, and apart from his ability, his high character made him a credit to his college and to football in general.

CASUAL knowledge of many athletic activities, rather than intimate acquaintanceship with any one particular branch of sport, is likely to be the lot of a large percentage of the members of the new Alland Field Club, to be formally opened near Murraysville about mid-summer.

Any club with 700-acre grounds and a three and one-half acre clubhouse cannot fail to command interest, but the Alland Field Club is to be distinctive for reasons other than these, offering, as it promises to do, facilities for at least 25 different branches of athletic activity.

Few, indeed, are the clubs where more than one sport is given consideration, and as a result, the average sportsman of today is a "specialist" in recreation.

It is not unlikely that at Alland, where the facilities are to be many and varied, polo-ists will be recruited from the ranks of the golfers, trapshooters from those whose first love is tennis, and so on down a long list, including football, basketball, baseball, swimming, soccer, bowling, lacrosse, squash, racquets, handball and various other competitions.

Earl Sande.

If, as those experienced in living would have us believe, variety is the spice of life, there is no reason to believe that variety should not add spice to athletic activity, and although such variety may tend to reduce the number of experts, it will compensate by producing a more wide appreciation of experts.

Varied sports activities are to be preferred, too, because there is a resultant variety of exercises, and in this variety is conducive to good health.

EARL SANDE, though reinstated on Maryland tracks, is not likely to do much riding there, as the owner to whom he is under contract is not campaigning on Maryland tracks this year. It is probable that the king of the saddle will not make his season's debut until about April 23 at Jamaica.

Meanwhile Sande is training hard every day.

"You have to keep in shape in this game," said Earl. "I got sort of soft on my vacation, but I found myself within half a dozen pounds of my best riding weight when I began training. I will be in tiptop shape in a few weeks, in plenty of time for the opening of the season.

"I will be glad to get started. I thing my weight will be easy enough to maintain this year. Of course, it may get the best of me some day, and I might consider riding abroad when that day comes, but I feel that there are a lot of good seasons in front of me yet right here at home."

Rangers Foe Tomorrow

PITTSBURGH'S ice Pirates will leave tonight for New York, where they will meet the Rangers tomorrow in the opening game of the National Hockey League's play-off series for the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's championship. Tomorrow's game at Madison Square Garden is to be the Pirates' "home" game, and on Thursday they will be the visitors when the Pittsburgh-New York series is concluded on the same ice. The team scoring the most goals in the two games will continue on into the second round to meet Boston in a like series.

A light workout at Duquesne Garden marked the close of the Pirates' conditioning program today. With the exception of Herb Drury, who is suffering from a leg injury, all of the players are in the best of condition. The morale of the Bucs, too, is good, which is not surprising in view of the fact that they defeated the Rangers, their play-off rivals, 4-2, here Saturday night. The victory over the Gothamites was the Bues' sixth in a row and they are confident that they can down the Rangers again even though the league officials saw fit to handicap them by transferring Pittsburgh's home game to New York ice.

IN DASHING FINISH

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—The dashing finish of the Pittsburgh Pirates which landed them a berth in the American Division play-offs of the National Hockey League has given them an equal rating with the Rangers in many quarters to advance to the Stanley Cup finals.

The Pirates clinched third place in the playoffs by tripping up the Rangers on Saturday night while the Detroit Cougars, who were also in the running, stopped the Bruins, leaders for the United States group. As a result, the Pittsburghers retained a two-point advantage over Detroit in the standing.

Having waived their rights to play on Pittsburgh ice in the play-offs, the Pirates oppose the Rangers at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night and Thursday. The winner of the tilts, total goals counting, will face the Bruins to decide the finalist of the American group to play against the victor of the International group for the world title.

afternoon, but the wet spell may interfere with his plans.

Five contests in a row have been cancelled through the advent of rain, the two games carded here yesterday being called off. The Pittsburgh officials and players are on the anxious seat, regarding physical condition, but the situation is not serious by any means. Moreover, the incessant rain is a blessing to the farmers, so what does it matter if a few ball games are spoiled?

A few days of warm weather later should suffice to put the players back in the condition they possessed when they left Paso Robles. There is some alarm about the pitchers, but if a hurler has the proper ambition he should be able to point himself for big stuff with more than two weeks of training left.

The temporary residence of the team in San Francisco will be kept while the Pirates cross bats with the Pacific Coast League champions in three games in Oakland. Bush today ordered all hands to leave the hotel no later than noon. About one hour is required to make the combination trolley-ferry jump.

Bush figures on using Remy Kremer in the box in the impending series. The leading pitcher of the National League is a resident of Oakland.

Rickard doesn't feel that way about it, however, since he is already obligated to Tunney, for as much as the freight will bear. Rickard feels that Dempsey is holding him up and that's why he has been so anxious to give the impression that he really believes Dempsey's fighting days are over.

The situation on all the heavyweight fronts remains in status quo.

LOREE MERGER AGAIN HIT

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(AP.)—A second complaint charging violation of the anti-trust law in connection with the Loree plan for merging southwestern railroads was issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission today against the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad.

The Kansas City Southern, which was put forward as the center of the southwestern merger, was made defendant in the first complaint last month.

In the complaint today, the commission charged that by the tentative merger the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad "acquired directly or indirectly 135,000 shares of the preferred stock and 20,000 shares of the common stock of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway without the approval of the commission and in violation of Section VII of the Clayton act.

The unlawful aspect of the stock transactions, the commission said, "may be to substantially lessen competition between the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad and the St. Louis Southwestern Railway and to restrain commerce in certain sections and communities."

Forbes

Stock Ticker Is Rushing Ahead Faster Than Trade.

By B. C. FORBES

THE stock ticker is moving much faster than business. The stock market and business have this much in common, however: They show pronounced unevenness. Just as some stocks have made notable gains, so have a few lines of business. And just as many stocks are failing to make headway, so are various lines of business.

While it can be said that average quotations on the New York Stock Exchange have broken all records, the same cannot be said of current business.

How long the two somewhat contradictory movements will continue, cannot be foretold. But it isn't conceivable that Wall street can long maintain its breakneck speculative pace.

INSTEAD of showing any abatement last week, speculation became more furious than ever before. The week's turnover reached unparalleled totals. Fifty representative stocks, embracing an equal number of industrial and railway issues, broke through that October's record peak in no uncertain fashion.

A handful of stocks continue to attract major attention. In these violent swings up and down are almost daily occurrences. So far the bulls have been able always, however, to rout the bears.

But it must not be assumed that speculation is confined to a few stocks. Trading has broadened very substantially, suggesting that the public have been drawn into the orgy by the spectacle of rising prices.

CONVINCING testimony that stock speculation has become widespread comes from other cities. Stock dealings in Chicago, in San Francisco, in Los Angeles, in Detroit, and other centers is of unprecedented volume.

Also, it is significant that, notwithstanding the relative quietness in industry and trade, bank clearings are running far ahead of last year even after allowance is made for the inflation in New York. Stock transactions here, for example, crossed 4,000,000 shares one day last week. A new maximum.

Another reflection of the abnormal speculative activity is the advance in New York Stock Exchange seats to $350,000, three times the price of a few years ago.

THE gamblers are paying scant attention to actualities off the floor of the exchange. Money rates are occasionally discussed, but expansion in brokers' loans is dismissed with the comment that, "it is less than we expected." The renewal of gold exports, in volume sufficient to raise the outflow above the $300,000,000 mark since last fall, is ignored.

The hoisting of fresh warning signals by the Federal Reserve authorities, in the form of steps designed to discourage expanded speculative borrowing, is also treated lightly by Wall Street in its present mood.

"Nothing succeeds like success." Professional operators know that nothing succeeds like rising quotations in inciting speculative furore.

And so the merry ongoings continue day after day.

To suggest that it probably will have a startlingly sudden end would be accounted traitorous.

THE week brought encouragement for our agricultural population. Wheat enjoyed a sharp rise, corn did better, and both now show far higher returns than a year ago. Cotton, on an estimated final crop of 12,960,473 bales, touched a new top for the year and finished the week fully 5 cents a pound above its price 12 months ago. Hides are nearly 16 cents above a year ago. Beef is up nearly 50 per cent, but pork is lower.

So far our agricultural prospects are encouraging.

Reports from the steel industry are cheerful. Automobile production has been vigorously speeded up, and a very optimistic statement by Chairman Raskob, of the General Motors finance committee, gave motor stocks a new flare-up towards the end of the week. The shoe industry is doing better, so is silk. Lumber reports are a little more satisfactory. Commercial failures are slightly fewer.

On the other hand, complaints are still numerous from numbers of industries and from a good many merchants. The latest carloading figures are under those of a year ago.

PRAISEWORTH efforts are being exerted by numbers of cities to provide immediate work for the unemployed. The unemployment problem, which has represented the most unfavorable phase of our whole economic situation, should be modified very rapidly now that spring is here. Unless, however, industry and business as a whole show more improvement than is yet being experienced, the problem will not entirely disappear. It is one calling for the most serious attention of America's master minds.

THE financial East has not relished the recent political exposures. The likelihood is that politics will receive more notice if and when a relapse comes in the stock market.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Pennsylvania Railroad Spurts.

Steady accumulation of Pennsylvania Railroad shares over the past few weeks resulted today in a sudden jump of two points to $70 a share, the highest point reached in this stock in several years. Pennsylvania was one of the few major systems to show larger earnings for 1927 than for the previous year, and it is a general assumption in stock market circles that the stock will ultimately receive dividends at the rate of $4 a year as compared with the present payment of $3.00 annually. Pennsylvania's move stimulated the other leading rails and there was strong buying in New York Central, Reading, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and others.

Fisher's Stock Index Higher.

Prof. Irving Fisher's stock exchange price index is 208.4 for past year, compared with 205.6 in the preceding week and 203.9 a month ago. Prof. Fisher's commodity price index for week is 86.9 against 87.3 in preceding week and 86.6 a month ago.

North American Company.

Net income of the North American Company for 1927 was $19,124,647, equivalent to $4.06 per share on the average number of shares of common stock outstanding. Income for 1926 was $17,503,597, or $3.55 per share. The common stock was increased in 1927 to 4,514,562 shares of no-par value from 4,091,222 shares of $10 par value in 1926.

California Oil Output Up.

Crude oil production in California for week ended March 24 totaled 816,000 barrels as compared with 667,500 barrels for the preceding week, according to actual pipe line figures.

Engineers Public Service.

An issue of 320,000 shares of $5 dividend convertible preferred stock of Engineers Public Service Company is being offered at $100 a share by a syndicate headed by Stone & Webster and Blodgett. A new issue of $1,500,000 first mortgage 20-year sinking fund 7 per cent gold bonds of the Municipal Gas and Electric Corporation of Recklinghausen, Germany, is being marketed at 98 and accrued interest, to yield about 7.20 per cent by E. H. Rollins & Sons. Stocks were closed at 11 o'clock.

O. A. W. Loss Smaller.

The New York, Ontario and Western Railway reports February net loss of $196,332 after charges, compared with loss of $246,315 in February, 1927.

Calumet and Arizona Mining.

Calumet and Arizona Mining Company reports for the year 1927 net income of $3,725,536 after depreciation and federal tax, but before depletion, equal to $3.79 on 642,757 shares, comparing to $3,195,921 or $3.59 a share in 1926. Deficit after dividends was $130,946, as against $260,191 in 1926.

New Cornelia Copper.

New Cornelia Copper Company reports for the year 1927 net income of $3,139,771 after depreciation, but before depletion, equal to $1.74 a share on 1,800,000 shares, against $3,714,547 or $2.06 a share in 1926.

Mack's First Quarter.

First quarter earnings of Mack Trucks, Inc., are expected to be somewhat below earnings reported for the first quarter of 1927. During the first three months of last year Mack reported net profits of $1,459,304 after all charges and federal taxes. After preferred dividends this is equal to $1.64 a share on the 713,432 shares of common stock outstanding. Present indications are for a general reduction in wages put into effect. Every avenue of endeavor to reduce cost of production and distribution, and to improve the quality of the product, will be earnestly followed in the current year."

To List More Dixie Gas.

The Dixie Gas and Utilities Company has made application to the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange to list 15,000 additional shares of preferred stock, par value $100, and 95,000 additional shares of common stock, no par value. This will increase the listed common to 245,000 shares and the preferred to 30,000 shares.

Industrial Rayon.

The Industrial Rayon Corporation reports for 1927 net income after depreciation and taxes equal to $1.94 a share on combined class A and B shares outstanding.

Copper Metal Stronger.

The prive outlook in the copper metal market took on a much firmer tone today and leading producers reported a good volume of business at 14¼ cents.

Seat Sells at $375,000.

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange today sold at $375,000, a new high record and an advance of $15,000 over the previous sale, recorded Saturday.

Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

The Pittsburgh and West Virginia reports for February net income of $126,184, against $243,350 in February, 1927, and for two months net of $259,000 against $482,950 in 1927.

Colombian Issue Taken.

An issue of $35,000,000 Republic of Colombia 6 per cent external sinking fund gold bonds of 1928, marketed today, was heavily oversubscribed. Wall Street looks shortly for an offering of $20,000,000 bonds of the Chilean Mortgage Bank, which has been authorized by the Chilean government. The loan will replace the 100,000,000 pesos of the bank's internal 8 per cent bonds and the balance will be used to finance construction of houses for working men. The loans carries a government guarantee.

Stocks of Zinc Larger.

The American Zinc Institute puts stocks of zinc on March 15 at 44,570 short tons, against 41,290 on March 1. Production was 26,143 tons and shipments 22,863 tons, of which 1,740 were for export. Metal sold, but not delivered, on March 15, was 28,956 tons.

Great Northern Improves.

February was a profitable month for the Great Northern, gross revenues rising to $7,453,719 from $6,592,746 in February, last year, and net operating income to $1,098,853 from $572,580. Net operating income for the first two months of the year was $1,478,452, against $874,859 a year ago.

Bar Hits Delay in Trials Of Vote Fraud Defendants

The Allegheny County Bar Association's committee on election frauds is supported by the organization in its dissatisfaction with the manner in which the prosecution of the ballot fraud cases uncovered last fall has been conducted.

By resolution the Bar Association has authorized the committee to take any action that may appear expedient in order to obtain a prompt disposition of the cases now pending or which may later arise in connection with the fall primary or general election of 1927.

The committee, in the preamble to its resolution, quite properly commented on the failure of District Attorney Gardner to fulfill a promise made in December to list for trial two cases weekly, beginning in January. Pleas of but few cases have been entered since that time. By agreement, the result of political tactics—appointment of a single attorney to defend all cases—the trials have been delayed until April 16. This is only eight days before the date of the April primaries—a significant fact.

The Bar Association is deserving of the commendation of the public for authorizing its committee to guard the interests of society in this matter.

Where Do the Candidates Stand on the Big Issues?

With the nomination of presidential candidates only three months away, a post-graduate course in mental telepathy would be necessary to discover the attitude of most of them on the issues that must be solved in behalf of the American people in the next four years.

This should not be a season of ducking, dodging and mental gymnastics.

If confession is good for the soul, frankness by men seeking the highest honor of the people is equally good for democracy.

What is their stand upon the foreign problems? Take the League of Nations, for example. A coterie of influential, probably well-meaning but thoroughly misguided people, is urging upon us again to forsake our traditions, to ignore the mandate of the 1920 election and to enter that structure of war's hysterical hate and its sub-cellar, the World Court. They are utterly unmindful that the League of Nations has failed to perform a single worthy act in the name of peace, that France is armed to the teeth, that England moves forward to regain mastery of the seas, that Mussolini spits with scorn upon it and that the world has experienced more wars and threats of war since the League was established than in any similar period of history.

Linked with that issue is the all-important question of whether we are to keep our Navy at least to the minimum size fixed by the Washington Treaty, which we foolishly conceived, or whether we are to permit the national defenses and the merchant marine of the richest nation in the world to dwindle to the estate of some shifting tribe of Arabs on the Sahara Desert.

With what vision do these gentlemen foresee the needs of a nation which soon will have a population of 150,000,000?

We must have greater crops to feed our people, and a greater volume of industrial products to clothe and house them and to meet the comforts and conveniences of life.

We must have development of our rivers and harbors for the quick and cheap interchange of the products of the vast agricultural regions with those of the populous industrial centers.

We must have a network of transcontinental highways, accommodating the increasing use of the motor truck in everyday business life, the pleasure of the autoist and the military needs of the nation in the event of war.

Our rivers, instead of running to waste for future centuries, must be harnessed to provide cheaper power for industry, to light every home and to lighten the toil of the housewife and the farm worker.

Mindful of the warning of the distinguished engineer who said that without copper—the copper used in steamers and locomotives—New York would starve for lack of food in a week, we must not only expand but conserve our natural resources by skillful planning and use. A nation without an oil supply would be as helpless before a tiny foe as a one-armed man in a prize fight.

Without nitrates we would be equally impotent. If war came now, we would have to rely for our nitrates upon the whim of a small neighboring country merely because a few men who own electric-power corporations here will not permit Congress to develop Muscle Shoals for nitrates unless they can have the profits which would pour in from the electric power produced by the government's own great war property.

Would the gentlemen who aspire to be President allow the turbulent waters of the Colorado River to run to waste, with their seasonal threat to destroy the lives and property of 70,000 people in the Imperial Valley?

Would they accept supinely the threat of the electric-power corporations that Boulder Dam cannot be constructed until they are guaranteed the profits to come from the sale of power on Uncle Sam's own property?

We need a national system of reforestation to impound the waters that may again engulf the Mississippi Valley and a policy of restricted cutting, which will conserve them while at the same time supplying the lumber for housebuilding and the thousand and one other uses.

Laws to compel the public registration of lobbyists and the secret agents of foreign governments, to abolish the control over legislation by lame-duck congresses and to permit the President of the United States to intervene for settlement of coal strikes and to allay the misery which always attends them are among other needs which should be in the forefront of presidential discussion.

The day of the public debate seems to have passed. It was good enough for Lincoln, who believed that a candidate too cowardly to express his views to his constituents should be regarded as too mean to command their support.

Let a system of presidential preference primaries be adopted. Thus could the people prevent the nomination of candidates who shelter their views in contemptuous silence while they plan to win nominations by the secret deals they may make with politicians who control the delegates to national conventions.

Model Political Fund

A taintless campaign fund with a surplus instead of a deficit — that starts the Democratic party off auspiciously this year. Especially if anybody wishes to draw attention to the contrast on the other side. But in politics it isn't the start which counts; it is the finish.

Something With Which to Experiment

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Tycho Brahe

THE Amateur Astronomers' Association has on exhibition at the American Museum of Natural History in New York a silver celestial globe that was made by Tycho Brahe, the great Danish astronomer, four hundred years ago. Simply as a masterpiece of silverwork this globe is highly interesting. It is covered with engraved figures of the constellations, from which Dr. Clyde Fisher says he has been unable to find that any important star group is missing. The globe is nearly a foot in diameter, and very beautiful in the details of its workmanship and ensemble. The Astronomers' Association is hopeful that some wealthy patron will enable it to become the owner of this historic, artistic and scientific curiosity, which has been lent to it by Baron Ralamb, of Sweden, so that it may remain permanently in America, now the home of the greatest astronomical instruments in the world.

Tycho Brahe was the greatest maker and inventor of such instruments in the middle ages. Moreover, he used his instruments so well, although he had no telescope (he died nine years before Galileo's invention), that his accurate observations of the stars and planets enabled Kepler to discover the laws of planetary motion (the basis of modern astronomy), and these observations remain even today of essential use to astronomers.

The story of Tycho's life is one of the most interesting personal romances connected with astronomy. He was of an ancient noble family, the Brahes, which afterward spread into Sweden. When he was only fourteen years old an eclipse of the sun occurred that fascinated him because, as he said: "It was something divine that men could know the motions of the stars so accurately that they could long before foretell their places and relative positions."

Accordingly, he took up the study of astronomy, putting himself into communication with the acknowledged leaders in that science, but compelled to carry on his studies secretly, because his family wanted him to devote himself to something that would maintain and elevate the family honor, never dreaming that through Tycho's devotion to the stars he would put their name so high on the bead-roll of fame that the world would never forget it.

Tycho learned the constellations by the aid of a small celestial globe, "not bigger than his fist," which he had to keep hidden and use only when his tutor was asleep. The memory of this may have led him to produce the exquisite silver globe now at the American Museum, as well as the five-foot celestial globe that he constructed of wood and covered with layers of parchment. This last was burned in 1728, 127 years after Tycho's death, in the conflagration that destroyed the "Round Tower," the university observatory at Copenhagen.

Tycho's name is attached to the great new star in the constellation Cassiopeia, which burst out to the amazement and even terror of Europe in 1572, and remained visible for some fifteen months. He observed this star so carefully that its position in the sky is known with almost complete certainty, so that it could be recognized if it should ever blaze out again. It is this star, called Tycho's star, that some have imagined might have been the "Star of Bethlehem" that appeared to the "Magi" at the birth of Christ.

There is another celestial memorial of Tycho which is conspicuously visible. It is the brilliant "crater-ring" on the moon known by his name. He did not discover it, but it was named for him by later astronomers. Anybody can see it even with the naked eye near the southern border of the full moon, where it glows like a polished silver button surrounded by mysterious bright rays, spreading from it in all directions over the moon.

On the island of Hveen, between Copenhagen and Elsinore, Tycho built his celebrated observatory, "Uranborg" (City of Heaven), one of the wonders for travelers (who were not many) in his day. Now it is only a scattered ruin.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Are You Broad-Minded?

YOU like to think of yourself as broad-minded and liberal in your ideas concerning people, and matters in general.

But are you?

Isn't it a fact that in very many things you are narrow-minded?

Positively one-sided, biased and selfish, if the truth were told.

Are you willing to be as big and generous in your home as you appear to be outside?

Are you willing to go 50-50 with others, in your home, to whom you should show consideration?

Are you not prone to emphasize and to try to impress others with the idea that you are lord and master of the place you call home?

You may argue at home, but you cannot argue with those away from your fireside because you wish to enjoy the reputation of being amiable and companionable.

But in the home are you not arbitrary and demanding?

Think it over and decide whether you would like to change places with the members of your family and take the sort of thing you give them.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Ali's Gratitude

ALI rejoiced, for Brahm was good,
And in his eager gratitude
He hastened to the market-place,
Joy shining from his swarthy face.

"A cage of birds!" he loudly cried,
While pushing through the human tide;
"Birds, that my thanks may fly afar!"
He flung the tiny door ajar.

At first the little, feathered joys
Shrank, frightened by the market's noise;
Then, glimpsing skies unbarred and blue,
They lifted happy wings, and flew.

Wise Ali, to whom Brahm was good,
Heard their clear notes and understood;
His heart with thanks was all a-throng,
And so he loosed winged bliss and song!

Tales that are Told

The Limit

AN IRISHMAN was employed at a big shipbuilding yard in the north of England. On him fell most of the disagreeable jobs, and he was much in request for lifting the heaviest weights.

On the eve of a recent launch, when the huge vessel was standing ready on the stocks for the morrow's great event the Irishman went to the foreman and demanded his pay.

"What for?" asked his foreman, in astonishment. "Surely you're not leaving us?"

"Deed and I am," replied the Irishman. "Since I've been here I've done some heavy lifting, but"—and he pointed first to the finished ship and then to the barricade on the bank of the river—"I'm hanged if I'm going to lift that thing over the fence tomorrow!"—London Tit-Bits.

Better Than Valor

AS HE was passing beneath a ladder reaching up to the windows of a recently built house the irascible colonel was struck on the head by a large piece of putty.

He seized the putty in one hand and, racing up the staircase of the house, entered the room from which it had been thrown. He was confronted by three stalwart navvies.

"Who threw this?" he cried angrily.

"I did," retorted the biggest of the three. "What are yer goin' ter do about it, eh?"

After a moment's sober reflection the colonel murmured:

"Oh, I just thought I'd return your putty."—London Answers.

Wrong Number

IT WAS seldom that Mr. Tightwad treated his family at all lavishly, but at Christmas he usually made an effort to do things in style.

This year he rang up a local theater and asked if he could reserve four seats.

"No," was the answer. "First come, first served's our rule here."

Mr. Tightwad was very indignant.

"What!" he shouted. "Do you think you can tell that kind of tale to me? Send someone to the 'phone that understands the theater business."

There was a chuckle at the other end of the wire.

"This ain't a theater," came the answer. "This is the reformatory."

Brotherly Love

A LARGE crowd was waiting breathlessly on the beach. In the distance a small black object could be seen bobbing up and down on the crest of the waves. It was a bottle—and inside was a message!

A party of brave men ventured out in a rowing-boat to see what tragic news it contained. After some difficulty the bottle was picked up and brought back to shore. With shaking fingers the leader of the party pulled out the message.

"The finder of this bottle," he read, "might please send it to my brother in Aberdeen and tell him to take it to the Pig and Whistle. There is twopence on it."—London Answers.

Straight Again

THE chemist had just filled a bottle with a farthing's-worth of rhubarb and half a pint of water, and labelled it: "Our Half-Crown Heartburn Cure," when a woman entered the shop.

"I want a bottle of glycerine," she said.

"Yes," said the chemist, as he handed it across the counter. "That will be one and a penny—a shilling for the glycerine and a penny for the bottle."

"But I had some here a month ago," said the woman, "and I paid nothing for the bottle."

"Is that so?" said the chemist. "Then that will be one and twopence altogether."—London Tit-Bits.

The Whole Hog

IT WAS a lecture about modern women, being delivered by a modern woman.

One of the speaker's chief points concerned the modern, common-sense style of woman's dress.

"Do you know," she cried to her audience, who were nearly all of her own sex, "that our present style of sensible clothing has reduced accidents on trams, trains and busses by at least fifty per cent?"

She paused to let this sink in. It gave a witty young man his long-waited opportunity.

"You'll excuse me," he said politely, "but why not do away with accidents altogether?"—London Answers.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, March 26.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and talked to Francis Albertanti and we discussed old days when I read copy on the Evening Mail, the most depressing of my newspaper experiences. Nor can I pass the site where the building stood without a shudder.

So to a restaurant and few there, yet the waitresses were standing and holding their trays and one told me that was a strict rule, which struck me as silly. And I determined to write a letter to the management, which was equally silly.

In the evening to a musical play of no importance, but sat behind the trap drummer, and his antics amused me more than the performance, and we engaged in talk and he told of coming from a place called Nip's Neck. Then to eat spaghetti and so to bed.

A New Yorker who invites many out-of-towners to his various week-end parties always adds this rare bit of thoughtfulness to his invitations: "Bring your shirt studs."

She stepped from a limousine arrayed in evening splendor. Then suddenly her expression was one of amazement. She seemed to shrink as a slowly deflating balloon, hobbling across the sidewalk like an ancient flat-footed waiter. Both heels of her evening slippers had crumpled up.

Music publishers say more than 10,000 persons in New York work at obscure jobs while trying to write a popular song, an operetta or music for a musical comedy. Next to writing, composing music attracts the most followers, yet it is perhaps the most difficult of all fields in which to achieve success. During the last year only two newcomers have won anything like conspicuous success.

There are bootleggers who have reduced chances of arrest to a minimum. They are known as "contacts" and merely take orders and relay them to supply stations with which they are in no wise connected, save as numbers. That is their sole part in the transaction. They are paid 20 per cent of the sale price, always in cash, by the head man.

A high speed New Yorker is interesting and a bit amusing. I dropped in on one in his hotel apartment before he started for his office. The masseur had just left. A barber was shaving him. Two stenographers were taking dictation while a harried secretary was trying to get Chicago on the telephone. A valet was rubbing off his shoes and two callers waited in the ante-room for an audience. I was there about five minutes and went away feeling as important as a sick gnat at an elephant round-up.

My trouble has been that if anybody drops in just to say "Hello" they can remain as long as they like and even tell stories with long beards, without my showing the acute annoyance I feel. But the way big men can waltz you out of the office and make you like it is simply superb.

The trained secretary is a big help to important men in giving the visitor a polite bum's rush. He can pounce in, suggesting it is time for this conference and that engagement and do almost everything but put on your hat. He has the advantage, too, of not caring whether you like it or not.

Of course, some men exaggerate the New York importance. And the best answer to them was given by Ring Lardner. Having a fixed engagement with one he arrived to find a card on the door: "Will be back in 10 minutes," underneath which Lardner queried: "What for?" and went on his way.

Independent Canada

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There was some talk at the Havana conference about Canada becoming an independent nation and severing itself from Great Britain.

This is not to be understood as a slap against Great Britain, in fact it was said to have the approval of the British people.

There are many advantages connected with Canada's being an independent American country. It is already a world power and is undoubtedly able to stand on its own bottom.

It might take over the British Isle possessions in the Western Hemisphere, such as Bermuda and Jamaica.

And there might be other advantages in casting its lot definitely with the Western American Republics.

The relations between Canada and the United States have always been pleasant, in fact the long boundary line between the two countries has been much exploited as having no fortifications or other military defenses connected with it.

The United States has no desire to take over Canada, and Canadians, apparently, have no desire to become a part of the United States.

The arrangement to make Canada an integral factor of the western hemisphere might have an interesting effect upon the Monroe doctrine, for Canada might be of great assistance to the United States in maintaining that doctrine.

The Latin-American countries of South America do not want to see Jamaica and other European owned possessions taken over by the United States, but perhaps they would have no objection to admitting Canada into the Pan-American Union and allowing her to assume possession of the British colonial possessions in this hemisphere.

The representatives of the United States naturally do not care to speak upon this matter, nor to urge it. They do not wish to take part in a discussion that is none of their business, but the sentiment of the conference was probably in favor of the movement.

Julio Garcia, chief of the Mexican delegation, as well as Mr. Roa and other Mexicans, and Mr. Vildosa, the Chilean delegate, said they would heartily support the admission of Canada and, Mr. Garcia added: "It makes no difference what political status Canada has, she is just as free and actually just as sovereign as any country belonging to the Pan-American Union."

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

MOTOR VEHICLE COMMISSIONER GOODWIN, of Massachusetts, shows statistics to prove that women are better and safer drivers than men; that they have fewer accidents.

A Nyack newspaper says: "Of course, women seldom drive at night."

The editor should go driving some nice, spring evening. It is at night that women have to grab the wheel to prevent accidents. Either that or crawl into the back seat. And they have been known to drive from there.

You can't get men excited over a paper doll. "Replenishing Jessica" may be sexy, but it was declared innocuous by a male jury that almost went to sleep listening to the book in court. The women buy the sex novels. The men who watched the clock or went to sleep over Jessica, included an architect, a salesman, a real estate man, a publisher and an insurance man.

In America, a seat is all right if you can see everything that's going on. But Princess Jane Faustino, of Rome, formerly Jean Campbell, of New York, left a dinner party in Rome because she was seated beneath her rank. It does seem that girls who marry Americans enjoy life so much more! It may have been a rank injustice to the princess, but from where we sit she probably missed a good time.

The men editors of newspapers thought it was a good joke on Nellie Taylor Ross, Governor of Wyoming, because she got on a chair when a mouse took the platform with her.

But a man at a political meeting in Denver didn't get on a chair, and a mouse ran up his trouser leg, and he swore words that even a newspaper editor never heard.

It's not fear, it's foresight that makes a woman get up on a chair.

Men have married women to get rid of them, so they might tactfully refrain from comment when women marry men to keep them.

Brilliant success appeals to women until they achieve it, and then they go back and pick up real happiness.

Nora Bayes stepped back and adopted three lovely children and was then really happy, she told me.

Mme. Frances Alda, brilliant soprano of the Metropolitan opera, wants to adopt children to make life "complete."

A year ago I ran into Ray Samuels, vaudeville star, prowling around trying to find a baby to adopt.

It's a long list. They would give you their pearls for a necklace of two fat little arms. Lap dogs to them mean something to give to the children.

I was once entrusted with the adoption of five infants. A woman with a tiny poodle on her arm appeared and said she was an acrobat in a circus. She wanted one of the children. When asked how she could travel with a circus and give a baby proper care, she told of large savings, and explained that her sister, who had been with a circus all her life, had adopted two children and they were then in eastern colleges. They were well cared for. She was food for thought.

At that time a child of 7 wrote and wanted two of the babies sent to their home. Her mother already had four, she explained, but they all loved children and her mother thought two more wouldn't make much difference.
